SEELY FAMILY

ISLE OF SHOALS, NEW HAMPSHIRE

There were 4 Sealie brothers on the Isle of Shoals at an early date. They were Capt. John, Richard, George, and William. It is also probable that Thomas who lived on the west side of the Kennebec River in Main in 1665 and was a refugee in Braintree in 1678-9 is a 5th brother, and that Robert of Plymouth may be the son of their brother Robert or John.

The Sealie brothers were the grandsons of Richard Sealie and his 2nd. wife Julian of Stoke - in - Teignhead, Devon. Their father was Andrew Sealie. He was born in Stoke-Teignhead April 8, 1597. He died before April 15, 1665 when his will was probated. He was married about 1618. Andrew's will names his sons John, George, William, Thomas, and also the sons and daughters of his son John, and the daughters of his son Andrew, and his grandson Robert of Plymouth.

Children of Andrew Sealy of Stoke-in-Teignhead, Devon

1. Capt. John b. abt. 1618 was of the Isle of Shoals 1647 Died before June 30, 1670 when his brother Wm. adm. his estate. He married - and had sons and daughters before 1664. He was a sea captain and a warrant was directed to him at the Isle of Shoals in 1647. In 1651 he called himself of Kingstanton, Devon, when he acknowledged himself indebted to his brothers Richard and George, and to George Moncke of Stockingtynhee. He sold property on Star Island in 1651. He signed a petition that the Isle of Shoals be made a township in 1653, and he was captain of the ship Dolphin in 1659. He bought property on Great Island 1660. Wm. Sealy and Elias Stillman were appointed as executors of his estate 1670. The papers mentioned his wife and children. In 1676 William and Joanna Tapping of England claimed his estate. It is probable that his children remained in England.
2. Richard bapt. in Stoke-in-Teignhead Feb. 4, 1621, was living in 1678. He married - He was magistrate at the Isle of Shoals in 1651. He was not mentioned in his father's will. Probably at least 2 daughters and one son survived. See Hoyt 569, 892, 1058, and the Maine Genealogist vol. II, page 76 and 123. He took the oath of allegiance in Mass. Bay Colony in 1678. His children were 1. John (b. 1642) who married Margaret ———, 2. Emm, and 3. Dorcas. The grandchildren of Richard by his son John were 1. John, 2. Richard, 3. Margaret, and 4. Dorcas.
3. George b. Stoke-in-Teignhead Dec. 19, 1622. He was a creditor of his brother in 1651. He signed the petition in 1653. He was living in 1664.
4. Joane buried Dec. 22nd, 1625
5. Andrew bapt. Feb. 25, 1626-7. Living Apr. 14, 1664
6. Robert bapt. June 7, 1629 (may be the father of Robt) of Plym.
7. William bapt. July 30th, 1632, died before Dec. 13, 1671 when his estate was inventoried (621 pounds). He married Elizabeth Linn of Boston (dau. of Henry and Sarah). Wm. was at the Isle of Shoals in 1653 when he signed the petition. He was ensign and constable in 1655, member of the grand jury 1656-60, took the oath of allegiance 1658, leased land in Kittery in 1658-9, purchased land on Smuttynose 1664, sold it 1666, had grants of land in Kittery in 1667, sold land 1669, deposed June 20, 1670, giving his age as abt. 39. Mentions his widow Elizabeth Sealey but no children.

8. Thomas b. Jan. 30, 1634 died in infancy.
9. Thomas bapt. July 28, 1638, living in 1664, may be the one living on the west side of the Ken. River in Maine in 1665 and a refugee in Braintree in 1678-9.

Thomas Cilley is possibly the brother who married Martha Blaisdell Boaden as her 2nd. husband, although some authorities suggest it was Capt. John, and some suggest that it was Richard. Her first husband was Richard Boaden. For her third husband she married John Clough of Salisbury on January 15, 1686-7 in Hampton. She was living in Amesbury in Nov. 1, 1684 and she had a daughter Elizabeth who at that time was married to a Davis. Martha was a dau. of Ralph Blaisdell. (Martha Blaisdell Boaden)

My dear Mrs. White:

I hope I will not seem too presuming in my interest in your Seeleys and and my Cilleys, but we had not previously spoken of John, Richard, George, and William as 4 of the sons of Andrew Sealy, Stoke-Teignhead, Devon, with Robert of Plymouth being a son of Robert who was baptized June 7, 1629, thus making Robert of Plymouth a grandson of Andrew. And then do you think that Thomas bapt. July 28, 1638 and who was another son of Andrew was the Thomas who lived on the west side of the Kennebunk River in 1665 and was a refugee in Braintree in 1678-9?

Andrew Sealy, son of Richard and Julian was born in Stoke-in Teignhead Devon, April 8, 1597. Died before 4/15/1665 when his will was probated. Mar. abt. 1618. His will names sons John, George, Wm., Thomas, also sons and daughters of his son Andrew, and his grandson Robert of Plymouth.

Both my William Morey papers were accepted, father and son, although it still seems queer to me that William was able to fight at that age in those times, still I had always heard that he did do so, and in my mother's family a father and his 7 sons all fought.

I shall be interested in your opinion of the above line up.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ Lucille E Brooks

My dear Mrs. White:

Part of this material has been ready for you since May 1st. The Cilley material I referred to is the article by Davis of Portland, Maine, who was one of the 3 authors of Maine and N. H. Genealogical Dictionary. He had a manuscript on Sealies in N. E. Hist and Gen. Register for 1934. I've been checking on this, this last week in the Probate and Registry of Deeds in Salem in addition to what I'd previously done in N. H. and I think Davis is right on his finding about their origin. I doubt about Robt. of Plymouth tho. I certainly feel sure it is Thomas who married Martha Claugh and that they were the parents of Benoni.

In addition to a summary abt. the Davis material here is a bit about one of Benoni's descendants as written by Mrs. Marion Cilley Bailey of Hillsdale, Mich. on file in Institute of Am. Genealogy Headquarters in Chicago. I just thought you would be interested.

I don't suppose your Robert would fit into this pattern as written by Davis, would he?

It seems to me my Thomas Cilley must have been pretty late in marrying.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ Lucille E. Brooks

Record of Seeley Men on Isle of Shoals, New England

Forward by Elizabeth Stevens White

Isle of Shoals in 1640-1670 was the most flowering part of New England. It is the belief of the compiler of this volume, as stated in prelude that four brothers by name of Seeley came with the Puritans, viz. Robert, George, John and Richard.

It appears that George lived and died on Isle of Shoals, as did William Sealy, although there is no record of him except one in 1653.

The compiler believes that William Sealy was the son of George and that he had a brother John, also son of George Seeley instead of a brother of John and Richard, as has been stated by some.

In 1670 William "Ceely" petitions to administer in estate of his brother, John Ceely —— so written in petition, but signed "William Sealy".

This John, the compiler believes, has been confused with the older John, the Uncle of William.

This brother William died the next year, his estate amounting to £621-7-0, one of the largest in New England at that time. Inventory taken Dec. 13th, 1671. His widow, Elizabeth was app. adm. at a court held Wells, Apr. 2nd, 1672.

This William's name appears often in the records of York County. He was "Grand Jury Man" June 30th, 1656-July 5th, 1660. Was Constable of Isle of Shoals June 25th, 1655. He had several suits before the Court of Saco and Wells, 1661-1669. He was called "Ensigne" in petition "to Honored Court" held at Boston 1653 and again at Kittery, Mar. 27, 1668. His widow survived him and her name appears as assigned "4th seat in Church" at Saco, 1674. He died between Aug. 1st, 1671 and Dec. 13th, 1671.

Richard Seeley changed his spelling to "Sealy" and his name appears as Magistrate of Isle of Shoals 1653. He removed to Hampton Falls (now in N. H.)

John Seeley, who lived in Isle of Shoals 1647, appears as Commander of the ship "Dolphin" Sept. 11th, 1659. In London he held property in Star Island which he sold May 3rd and June 19th, 1651.

In 1660 he purchased land in Great Island near Portsmouth (now in New Hampshire). "Died while at sea, 1670" so some authorities state, but they may have confused this John with his newphew John in Isle of Shoals "who died 1670".

This John is first mentioned"28th of 8th month", 1647. He was then of Isle of Shoals. The prefix "Mr." always appears in records in connection with his name. From 1648 until 1655 we find no further record of him , but Jan. 20th, 1656 he appears, associated with Capt. Bryan Pendleton and Capt. Richard Walden, as agent of the "Widow Ebel Wolton of Plymouth in Old England, lately wife of James Wolton of Piscataquack".

He appears to have been in Essex County and Newbury as well as Portsmouth, and only a short time in the Isle of Shoals.

John Seely, of old Norfolk in 1672, claiming age of 24 years, at that time, may have been a son of this John from whom many Mass. descendants have come but there is no proof of this.

Je—ess, in his "Historical Sketch of Isle of Shoals" states, "The three brothers, William, Richard and John Seeley, were among the more distinguished of the early settlers there, where for many years, they occupied chief positions as Magistrates, Constables, Deputies and Merchants."

Note the positions held by Robert Seeley in Conn.

The similar given names, appear in the families of these men and of Capt. Robert Seeley. Thomas Sellia at Saco, Maine, Sept. 8th, 1665, is undoubtedly of same family as William seems to have been in vicinity of Saco at some time.

John, of old Norfolk 1672, and Thomas of Saco (Maine) 1665, have not been placed in any authentic record found.

The Massachusetts Genealogy is included in this volume, but no attempt has been made to link them to any particular one of the four brothers, but Burke states the family was of Norman extraction "see prelude of this volume) and that John Sealy, Esq. is said to have been of Bridgewater, England. The Mass. settler was of Bridgewater, Mass.

The following genealogy of the three brothers in Isle of Shoals was copied from the collection made by Mr. Jonathan Prince Cilley, an attorney of Rockland, Maine, about 1878. A few extra dates and corrections have been made by the compiler of this volume.

Mr. Cilley is inclined to place the above mentioned men as older children of Capt. Robert Seeley whom he left behind him when he went to Connecticut, but the dates do not make it possible.

Banks Top-agraphical Dictionary of 2885 English Immigrants.

George, John and Richard Seeley from King's Teignton to Isle of Shoals.

John Seely (1) Isle of Shoals, 1647, appears as Commander of ship Dolphin by power of Attorney given him Sept. 11th, 1659 in London. He owned property on Star Island which was sold May 3rd and June 19th, 1651.

1660 he bought land on Great Island and near Portsmouth. He died 1670 while absent at sea. A Bill of Sale from Thos. Crocket to Robt Mendarm of Pascataquake, Maine, Dec. 20th, 1650, is witnessed by John Seely and Thos. Bestone.

John Seely aged 24 yrs. in 1672. Old Norfolk was probably his son.

George Seely (1) who resided on Isle of Shoals in 1653 is probably father of William Seely of Kittery, York County, Main. No record has been found of George Seely.

No record of Thomas Sealy at Saco, Maine, Sept. 8th, 1665, but he was probably a brother of William and John, all sons of George Seeley (1).

The petition was granted.

Thomas Sillea appears in the original plan of the Township of Andover, then New Brittan, and he gave Lot 22, East Div., 2nd Range to his son. Jonathan Sillia, then a resident of Nottingham, N. H., with others, a petitioner in 1739 for annexation to Mass.

Susan Elizabeth (Libbie) Cilley Griffin graduated in 1881 from Hillsdale College; Studied medicine in Medical college in New York City; Went to India as a missionary in 1873, there three years; Went back in 1883 and remained ten years; Went in 1904 and remained five years.
Wrote primary readers,"English Made Easy" for teaching native children the English language in Bengali, and Oriya. These were adopted by the British government for use in Bengal and Assam. Keuka College gave her the honorary degree of Ph. M. in 1888.
She was instrumental in securing a grant of 20,000 leaflets printed each month by the London Bible and Tract Society in the Oriya language, the British government voted to pay all expenses for training school for women except Missionary support for every pupil.
She was Principal of training school for women at Santipore, Orissa, India, with one English and three native teachers. She was a member of the Free Baptist Missionary Board and Editor of "Our Journal" the paper of Keuka College and Central Association of Free Baptists.

My note: I take this to mean that she first went to India in 1873 when 21 yrs. old, that she remained there 3 yrs. and returned to America about 1876 - 7, was here about 7 yrs. or until 1883 when she returned to India where she spent 10 yrs., returning to America about 1893. I should like very much to learn more about Mary Manning, who, I believe, was born in England, and probably came to the colony with her brother or some relative. I cannot locate her. Another member of that vast Blank Family is Martha, wife of Richard Seeley. Do you Know who she was and from where she came?

You, of course, are familiar with the exploits of Capt. Robert Seeley, the emigrant ancestor and there is no need of my describing his distinguished services to the colonies.

In appreciation of your courtesy and with best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

Alice Davis Miller

E.S.W.S., My dear sir, or madam:- I read in the Genealogical Dept. of the Boston Transcript. of your work on a genealogy of the Seeley family in America and send you my husbands line on the chance that you may not have that particular one. I do not know that you wish to carry the lines beyond the surname Seeley, Cilley, etc. but it has always seemed to me that the female lines were quite as important as the male in tracing lineages. If you wish more detailed statistics I shall be glad to give them to you in this line. I have not the name of Richard Seeley's wife or any vital statistics regarding him and should be glad to get them, also Benoni's.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. George P. Douglas, 2424 Park Ave,
Minneapolis, Minn.

The OBLONG

This is a tract of land 1 3/4 miles wide commencing in Town of Rye, in Westchester County & running north thru it, Putnam & Dutchess Counties the west side was, until 1731, the boundary line between New York & Conn.. The east side of it now forms the division line between these States. It contains 60,000 acres & just before the death of Col. John Montgomery in 1731, who succeeded William Bennett in 1728 (cont.)

as Govenor of Province of New York of another tract near Long Island Sound, Surrendered to Conn. New York drew a line thru its center, divided it into 500 acre lots & sold it to emigrants who received a guanty title from the State. It was this security of title which caused these lots to be eagerly sought after. Some imigrants came from Cape Cod Several from near Conn. towns.

Mrs. Harvey T. White
Apt. 46 - 310 Haven Ave.
New York City, N. Y.

Dear Mrs. White,

I have just come across a very scanty record of one Ella Seely (no dates or parentage given) who married Charles W. Yale, son of Moses and Anna (Rowland) Yale. She died and Mr. Yale married 2nd Margaret Thomas. There were 3 Yale children but which wife was their mother, I do not know their names were: Margaret Yale who married Clarence A. Blood; Wash. N. Yale who married Mrs. May Emery and Lina Yale who married Robert E. Ford and had Dorothy Yale Ford and Edith C. Ford (d).

Hastily,
Edith C. Knight

Wells, Vermont
3 December 1941

Dear Mrs. White,

Just once more to bother you, then i'll stop, you are too busy to do unnecessary things. I have written to see if I can locate Mr. Rice again.

I want to thank you very much for all your interest in our behalf and ask one more question. You stated John Fuller as father to our Betsey. Do you know the name of his wife? I find no mention of a John Fuller in History of I'bury, Ebenezer also Ebenezer Jr., Matthew, Edward, Nathaniel and Benjamin were mentioned upon your reply. I will put a query in Hartford Times again and see if any results follow. (cont.)

Now I have a little help for you. We, parents of Nathan Seelye who married Margaret Dean were Nathan Seelye and Love Penny, all are burried at Cambridge, N. Y., when summer comes i'll try to get the dates from the grave stones.

Nathan Jr. and M. Dean were born in Mansfield, Mass., my informant states that she has heard her grandfather Nathan Jr. say "three brothers came over from England together. Two settled in Massachusetts and one went on farther and they never heard from him again".

Nathan Jr's son Ira says his grandfather was a Lory, can give you list of Nathan & M. children if you desire.

Mrs. Henry Brayton, Hartford, N. Y., may be able to help on Samuel Seelye.

There is no Lurry about the additional to Seelye notes at work. I think when you find it convenient to do so you had better send to Mrs. S. H. Mills, Historian, Vt. So. of M. F. D., 110 East State St., Montpilier, Vermont and she will see to its being properly placed. Thank you. I am a very busy person also and not too well but i'd like very much to clear up the Fuller line and so glad of the Seelye, biz. My Amidon (Aweden) come's back from Roger Huguenot. My Shaw & Gardner are yet unfinished may hope they will work out.

I'll write May S. and see if she can find any John Fuller.

The coming season's greeting to you and don't work too hard, head work is very exhausting.

Very cordially yours,
Actorvette Hill

LETTER

Dear Mrs. White,

I've not heard from you in two years, and do not know whether the Haven Avenue address will reach you-but if this does reach you, the bit of information contained therein may have been in your files for some time. Must needs try, thats all.

Regarding Bazaleel Seely of Wallkill, who died 1832, i'm told he did have a son Isaac, as my family list from Orange County shows, Isaac, born 1786, died 22 Sept. 1828 which would be sufficient reason why his name did not appear in Bazaleel's will. He lived in Minisink, married Elizabeth Mandeville of Cornwall on Hudson and had six sons, viz- Hector Tuthill, David W., Henry Clark, Lewis Tuthill, Francis Tuthill, Isaac Brewster. Henry Clark was born near Middletown 1 March 1815.

In your letter of 22 April 1934, you surmise this Bazaleel was probably born before 1750 and that Rachel Tuthill might have been a 2nd wife. Last evening I was looking over the census of 1800 for Wallkill and noticed that Bazaleel was given as under 45 years of age, which means he was born after 1755. Rachel was 17 years old when she married, and if Bazaleel was born after 1755, I take it he was around 21 when he married her. Which would bring his birth year to 1758 which is reasonable, certainly. This census shows 2 sons, 1 over and 1 under 10 years, and five daughters, 2 between 16 and 26 and 3 between 10 and 16 years. Apparently one daughter died, and we have the other six accounted for; the four listed daughters and Isaac and the Bazaleel of Wallkill, will 1822.

In this case Zerviah, b. 1771 belongs to some other Bazaleel. Biding by the census, Bazaleel even if born 1755 would have been but 16 at the time of Zerviah's birth. So that seems definitely wrong.

I noted an error in this record of 1934 last night also. The family of Josiah Seely, b. 23 Sept. 1736, 6th child Henry, married Ruth Tuthill daughter of Daniel Jr. and Anna (Strong) Tuthill. (you have him as David) This fam ly lived near Lincolndale, not near Oxford, (I visited the farm in1935) its about a half mile from the old-stone-schoolhouse-beside-the-Otterkill on the road from Washingtonville to Goshen. The farm lies south on a road that cuts down from Lincolndale and comes out near the Blooming Grove Church, onto the road leading from Washingtonville to Chester.

One more matter. I'm a little uncertain yet about it, but it does seem to me that Mercy Seely (dau. of above Josiah) must have married Joshua Brown, Jr. Joshua Sr. married 1st. widow Experience (Parshall) Reeve, in 1748, and Experience was 1st married in 1736. Joshua Brown Sr. died about 1793, so Mercy, b. 1778 hardly seems to fit into that picture. Joshua Sr. was son of Joseph and Dorothy (Tuthill) Brown who were married probably between 1710 and 1715, in Southold town. So Joshua Jr. fits in as far as age goes much better than Joshua Sr.

Have you found that any of the Seelys round Detroit belong to your Seely families. I have noticed some of them belong to the Catholic church which makes me doubtful about them.

I may move the latter part of this month, so if you can give me an early reply-if any-I shall appreciate it. I have, at present no new address. If I move am leaving Detroit for Indiana, (much against my desires)

Sincerely
Lotta Tuthill Vail

Jacobus' Explainations of Records.

Alias: adoption or a foster father or step-father where name is taken. In case a man is referred to as John Smith alias Brown, the most usual explaination is he was illigitimate birth, that Smith was name of his reputed father & Brown, his mother's name.

"Natural Son" usually meant a son by blood as against a son by marriage or adoption. It does not always imply illegitmacy.

Dear Cousin,

I have had an opportunity to go into Hestons History of South Jersey and have picked out the following notes:

Page 863 Benjamin Seley member of Militia from Salem County in Company from "north side of the Cohansey.", 1715.

Page 864 In a muster roll of Militia of Salem County dated Nov. 16, 1715, Joseph Seeley is shown as its Captain. Ephraim Sealey as its "Sargt.", and the list is signed by "Joseph Selley, as Capt."

Page 864 From South side of Cohansey.

Page 892. Cumberland County, New Jersey, Troops in (Pa?). (Whiskey) Insurrection, 1794.
A Company commanded by Capt. Seeley Fithian, does not show any Seeley as a member.
A Company commanded by Maurice Beesley shows:
Elias Seeley, 1st Sargt. enrolled Sept. 18, 1794.
Jeremiah Seeley, 2nd Corp. enrolled 17 Sept. 1794.

They were all discharged in Dec., the 24, 1794.

Page 901. Service in the war of 1812.
Elias Seeley, Private 3rd Artillery, enlisted 6 Nov. 1813, in Capt. Benjamin S. Ogden's Company. (Note the Benj. S.), for the War, and was discharged at Buffalo, N. Y., 3 June, 18--, at the close of the War.

Page 901. Jeremiah Seeley Private in Capt. Alex J. Williams Comp, 2nd Artillery enlisted at Leesburg, N. J., 11 May, 1813, for 18 months, died at Williamsville, N. Y., 14 Sept. 1814. (Leesburg is Located just above the mouth of the Morris River in Cumb. Co.).

This Elias and Jeremiah were without doubt the sons of Jesse and the death of Jeremiah writes finis on him. He was evidently md., as the burial record of Broad St. Ch., shows a wife or child, does not say which, buried 13 Dec. 1811.

In the biographical sketches here, is one on Welden, or Weeden Richard Seely, of Hammonton, N. J., it states that he is the grandson of Obadiah Seely who married Mary (Lessig) Bechtel, of Pottstown, and had Paul, Horatio Stockton, Silas Stone, Davis Lockwood, and John Quincy Adams.

Horatio S. Seely was born at Pottstown, 1813, died Feb. 1897. Followed his fathers trade as a Wood Carver in Columbia, Pa., in 1839, removed to Phila., then to N. Y. State, and finally to Hammonton, N. J., where he died., he md., Charlotte Weeden, b. Otsego Co., N. Y., Apr. 1821, d. Oct. 1904, and had 6 children, Adah Maria, b. 6 July, 1846, d. June, 1882, a teacher in the Atlantic City schools, 2. Lorenzo Dow, b. 1848, d. 1886, 3. Helen Charlotte, b. 1 Jan. 1851, d. Nov. 1914, a teacher in the Atlantic City Schools, and md. James Harvey Ransom of Hammonton, 4. Weeden Richard, 5. Jared Tood, b. 13 Oct. 1846, was a real estate broker, in Patterson, N.J. 6/ Hanry Stockton, b. 1861, d. 1870.

States that Weeden Richard Seely, who is known as W. Richard Seely was born Morris, Otsego Co., N. Y., 25 June, 1853, md. 1st Mary E. Presey, dau. of George Washington, and Harriett (Blackwell) Pressy, she d. 2 Feb. 1883, md. 2. Clara P. Weston, dau. of Rev. Costello and Julia (Andrews) Weston, an Universalist minister of Me., states that W. Richard was a resident of Hammonton in 1924, and served as Town Clerk, Commissioner of Deeds, and a member of the Board of Education, and prominent in musical and Episcopal church cirlcds.

So thats that. On the record of Trinity Luth. Ch., at Reading it only shows that Oby md. Mary Lessig, no Bechtel connection is mentioned. As far as I know, this is the only desc. of the Oby line that I have in South Jersey. It does not show his offspring, if any.

Nothing very new at this end, but am writing the Dept. at Wash. on Elias and Jery, and will let you know if they have any additional information.

Yours
W. G. Selley.

SEELEY SAGA IN PENNSYLVANIA

Many descendants of Robert Seeley are to be found in the Central and Northern Districts of Pa., in many branches their ancestors came before the Revolutionary War, and in others, we find they were a part of the general westward movement that took place about 1780. All of these men were early pioneers, willing to risk life and fortune in order to establish new settlements in the wilderness, and get away from the crowded settlements of New England, and Lower New York State.

Very little has been recorded of them in the local histories, but many were prominent men of their time, and these recorded notes may give a starting point from which further research may be made. We are showing only a small part of the possible information that that may be gathered from further research of County, church, and local data, and a through search of the land and surveys in Harrisburg, should give additional interesting information.

At the present time the Seeley Clan have frequent meetings in the Scranton section, where Mr. John H. Seeley, Principal of the Scranton-Lackawanna College, as the Historian of the Clan and his naratives on the subject should be interesting to those families who are now in that section. If any are not shown in this record, and there may be a number of them, they are urged to file their data with the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, so as to make the record as complete as possible.

It must be borne in mind that the movement into Pennsylvania was of an entirely different character from the settlement of the clan in South Jersey. In this movement we find a natural expansion of the Colonial Frontiers, pushing out from New Haven, through New York, New Jersey and then crossing the Delaware, into Pennsylvania, where the early settlements were established in the face of constant opposition from the Indians and the French to the West, and the North.

In South Jersey many were early traders, not always welcome and frequently ousted by the Dutch who regarded the Swedish settlements of the Delarare as their trading territory. Mariners from Long Island were in Cape May as both points were whaling centers. These settlements were almost free from Indian troubles, and were fairly secure, except for the raids of freebooters and pirates who frequently looted the Jersey and Delaware towns. So providing protection against them, and for local security, a local militia was organized, of which Joseph Seeley was Captain, and his record has been shown. It has been shown that at an early date, New Haven Colony and Robert Seeley were interested in the trading possibilities of the South River, or as it was later named, the Delaware River.

Of the many branches of the family that entered Pennsylvania via the North, probably the most prominent, or at the time of writing this account, the lines on which we have the most information, was the descendants from Samuel Seely and his wife, Charlotte. Their genealogical, county, land and other data is shown under the heads of their many descendants.

Samuel is shown as a descendant of Obadiah, son of Robert, and Charlotte was the widow of Jean Popino and both are said to have been from the French Huguenot Colony in Mass., They were md. in Stanford, Connl, 13 May, 1709, and we have shown a list of their children. Three sons, Samuel Christopher and Jonas were all early pioneers into Pa., and we have shown their data under their respective pages of this record. They were all associated in the Berks County District, and after the Revolution, the descendants of Christopher were prominent in the Wayne and Pike County section.

Samuel was in the Berks section at an early date, and md. Mary DeHaven. He is shown in the records of St. Augustine Lutheran Church at Trappe, and conducted a land venture, selling lots on the main road, south and on the opposite side from the old Trappe Church. An early survey of this tract shows the name of Joseph Seely who was probably the brother of Samuel. Early deeds of Lancaster County show him as an "Ironmaster" interested in the early industrial developement of the giant iron and steel industry of the State. Correspondence between John Hughes and Colonel Bouquet, which we have reproduced, refer to him as a "Wagon Master", during the French and Indian War.

Christopher was a carpenter, and a minister and according to some accounts preached at or near the old Presbyterian Church at Parsippany. He was a Lieutenant of Militia in the Reading district and explored into central Pa., as he is shown in the land records of Cumberland Co., and appears to have settled on this land, but later sold and returned to North Jersey. The exact date of death and place of burial is not known. He md. Mary Bell, or Bull., and she and their dau. Mary are buried in the old Presbyterian Church Yard, at Elizabeth N. J., their s., Sylvanus, Samuel C., and Joshua took up land grants after the Revolution and were prominent in Pike and Wayne Counties. The record of Colonel Sylvanus Seely and General Samuel C. Seely is shown on other pages. The brother Joshua appears to have returned to New York City, where he died in 1803. Descendants of both Sylvanus and Samuel C. still reside in the Scranton-(Honesdale?) district. Samuel C., an original member of the Cincinnati is now represented by a descendant, Mr. I. C. Hanners of Reading, Pa.

Probably the most prominent of these early pioneers was Jonas Seely. His record is far from complete but enough has been compiled to show him to have been a man of exceptional ability.

The exact date and place of his birth is not known. He was probably born in Orange Co., N. Y., about 1720. The place and date of his death is not known, but he was about 90 yrs., of age, and we know he was living with his son Isaac at Larrys Creek, when Isaac died about 1805-1808.

Little is known of him prior to his activities in the Reading Section. It is clear however, that he must have had more than the average educational advantages of his time, and that he was at an early age associated with the pioneering and military activities of the frontiers of Pa., which appears to have been in a constant state of turmoil and subjected to frequent Indian Wars. He is shown as a leader in many fields and the archives, county, church, military, industrial, land and civil records all contribute information concerning him.

He md. about 1750-1752, Hannah, the widow of William Hartley who was one of the Commissioners who laid out the present city of Reading. They had two children, Sarah, b. 1753, who md. Major John Huling, and Isaac, b. 1757, who md. Elizabeth Galbraith of Cumberland Co.

He is mentioned in the land records of Berks, Lancaster, Cumberland, and Philadelphia Counties, as prior to the erection of Berks Co., this district was part of both Lancaster and Philadelphia. In the year 1751, he was appointed a Judge of Philadelphia County, and on the erection of Berks County, in 1752, he was appointed a Judge of Berks County, and served until 1770. He also served as County Treasurer during the same period. It was not necessary at that time, for a Judge to be a member of the bar, or of the legal profession. It was considered more important that he have the fundamental and essential qualifications that would lead him to settle all disputes with justice and equity according to the common law and the laws of the province and to inspire a high degree of confidence in those who appealed to him, and in the intentions and motives of the local and Provincial Government. That Jonas Seely was richly endowed with the qualifications that inspired confidence of the Provincial authorities may be seen from the fact that many appointments were conferred upon him, and some histories say that he held at least 21 offices, and the archives show that he was frequently called in to arbitrate the many conflicting land disputes. In addition to being a Judge of the County, he is shown as the Provincial Commissioner of the Provinces. He served as a Colonel during the French and Indian War. He is shown as a Captain on the frontier of the Northhampton Co., 1766, as Commander of the forces for the defense of the Reading district. 1766: as Commissary at Fort William, 1758. In 1763, he received a Commission as Commander of the troops in Reading, to defend the district from the grequent Indian raids. This original Commission is now in the Historical Society of Pa.

These were not merely honorary titles, but represented actual service as the reports written by Jonas Seely to the Council and Governor refer to Indian raids by roving bands who looted, murdered and carried off the small children of outlaying and exposed plantations within twenty miles of the city of Reading.

In the Provost William Smith Collection there is an original Book on German Free Schools in Pa., dated 1735. They were maintained by contributions from Gentlemen and Noblemen of England for the purpose of teaching the new German settlers the English language and customs, and to counteract any propaganda that might be spread by the agents of the French in the territory to the West. On page 30, is shown a list of Trustees for the school at Reading. "Mr. James Read, Prothonetary, Francis Parvin, Esq. Eng., Quaker, Jonas Seely, Esqu. Engl. Presb. Mr. Isaac LeVan and Mr. Samuel High, Calvanists, Mr. Haas Martin Gerick, and Mr. Jacob Levan, Luth. Mr. Sebastian Simmerman."

No doubt Jonas Seely had been raised as an English Presbyterian but at that date no Presbyterian Church had been established at Reading. We find him as a Warden of St. Gabriel's Episcopal Church who maintained a missionary at Reading, and here we find the record of the marriage of his daughter Sarah to John Huling and the baptism of their children. Sylvanus Seely, nephew of Jonas, and a son of Christopher, evidently was in this section for a short period as his marriage to Jane Williamson is also recorded. He later removed to the Honesdale district where he was a large land owner. We also find Jonas Seely in the Lutheran Church of Reading in the year 1758, as his son, Isaac, was baptised at the Trinity Lutheran Church.

Early deeds of Lancaster Co., refer to both Jonas and his brother Samuel as "Ironmasters". Early surveys refer to his forge of Jonas Seely on Ray Creek. Nothing is shown that he ever had a furnace in connection with these forges, but these records firmly establish him as one of the early pioneers in what was to become the giant iron and steel industry of the section and State.

It is known from both historical and family tradition that he was one of the largest land owners of his time. He had a large acreage scattered thru the Reading district and his home at Sinking Spring was reputed to be one of the manors of the time. In addition he held vast acreage in North East Pa., in the district to the north of Reading, in Cumberland Co., and in the west central part of the State along the waters of the Ohio. This latter tract was deeded to his son, Isaac and to his son-in-law John Huling, each receiving 5000 acres. At a meeting of the Council held at Bushkill in 1766, reference is made to 10,000 acres granted to Jonas Seely, and this was probably part of the land he held in what is now Wayne and Pike County.

A survey of Lowther Manor, dated 1765, located in Pennsborough and Allen Townships of Cumberland Co., near Carlisle, shows the manor to have been bounded by a large tract listed under "Jonas Ceely". The tract to the north of Reading covered a large acreage in the vicinity of what is now Port Carbon to Pottsville.

Following the early custom of the English Crown, the Provincial Governments were rather lavish in their gifts of public lands to those who had performed some outstanding public service, but like the Crown Lands, they not only felt the actual opcupation of the claim to the grantee, but also included in many grants a provision that the grant would be improved or occupied within a definite period of time, otherwide the grant would lapse back to the province. It is very doubtful if Jonas Seely ever saw or considered the grants in North East Pa., or to the north of Reading of great value. They were a vast wilderness with only a few scattered settlements, without adaquate military protection from the roving bands of Indians, and were not attractive compared to the more or less settled and protected area around Reading and Carlisle. He appears to have left these two tracts lapse. The one to the north of Reading was, at a later date, to become the rich coal fields of the Schulykill Valley, and early in the 1800's was acquired by the Girard interests. The tract in the north east Pa., was allowed to lapse, as we find this same section parcelled out in the land grants of the State following the Revolutionary War. It is highly probable that some of the land that was acquired thru these later grants, by Sylvanus and Samuel C. Seely, and others had previously been held by Jonas Seely, their uncle. We have not followed these grants of land in the survey office.

To any member of this brahch, interested in further details of locations, and willing to spend the time, effort and expense of research, it would no doubt be profitable to explore the still uppublished archives, surveys and land records at Harrisburg. Here too may be found additional detailed information of his service in the Colonial and French and Indain War.

From the Berks Co., records we learn of the death of his wife, Hannah Seely, about the year, 1768, as her estate was administered on 27 Apr. 1769, and division was made to her children by William Hartley and to Isaac and Sarah, children by Jonas Seely.

Shortly after this time, Jonas appears to have retired from active public affairs. He retired as Judge and as County Treasurer, in 1770, having held these offices since 1752. In 1770 he sold large tracts in Cumberland County in the vicinity of Carlisle as shown by the deed books of Cumberland County which we have reproduced for this record. During the Revolution and shortly thereafter, he, like many others who had held large grants, appears to have had some financial difficulties as the deed books show part of his land in Berks County was sold for debt.

From County and personal accounts he appears to have removed from Berks county toward the close, or shortly after the War of the Revolution. His daughter Sarah, who married John Huling, who served as Major, is shown as a resident of Silver Spring, near carlisle. In the War Department record, Isaac, who also retired from the War as Major, is shown as a resident of Cumberland Co. An original letter dated 26 July, 1783, shows Jonas Seely as of Carlisle. This letter addressed to James Potter, Esq. refers to a meeting of Officers in the War which broke out in 1755, and Jonas Seely signs himself as "Late Coll." It is also signed by Samuel Postlethwait, late Capt. and James Pollook, late Lieut. The original is now preserved in the misc. m---. 1744-1859, "Northern, Interior and Western Counties". Page 85, in the Historical Society of Pa.

No doubt Jonas Seely made his home with his daughter Sarah and it was from their home that Isaac set forth to meet Elizabeth Galbraith and a most interesting account of their marriage is shown in the narrative of Harriet Seely Totten, (1811-1895), the grand daughter of Isaac Seely, which we have reproduced as a valuable contribution to the record of both Jonas and Isaac.

Harriet Seely Totten, daughter of Robert G., and g. daughter of Isaac Seely, secured her information first hand from the widow of Isaac Seely and gives a clear and concise account of the many perils and hardships endured when Isaac and Elizabeth established their home in Lycoming.

From this account we learn that Jonas was still living at the time of the death of Isaac, and made his home with them at Larry's Creek, where he died, and the date is not known. His daughter Sarah and John Huling had also removed to Lycoming from Cumberland County and he may have made his home with them. Elizabeth Galbraith Seely, as a widow, md. Dr. Hunt, and removed to Harrisburg and after the death of Dr. Hunt, she again returned to Carlisle.

The name of Jonas and Isaac Seely also appears on the tax lists of Lower Smithfield Township. Northampton Co., for the years 1786, to 1788, but it is clear that they are not the Jonas and Isaac of Berks, Cumberland, and Lycoming. They were no doubt of the same line but we have no information concerning them. Copy of these tax lists shown above and others of the line are reproduced from the archives on the following pages.

My Father's Family

Robert Seeley

In what part of England my great,great,great,great,great, grandfather, Robert Seely, was born, I am unable to say, but it is a well authenticated fact that he came to America with the Colonists that accompanied Governor Winthrop in the "Arabella."

They were known as the "New Comers" to distinguish them from the "forefathers", or, "Old Comers", who in 1620 reached this country on the Mayflower.

These people who came with Winthrop were endowed with extraordinary faith. They went out upon their mission with courage, cheerfully and earnestly. They brought with them a patent from King Charles 1st, permitting them to establish a settlement on the shores of the New World to be called, "The Colony of Massachusetts

The Colony consisted of a group of choice spirits, largely composed of scholars and landed Gentry who had left England because of their devotion to liberty, civil and religious, and not because of any economical distress there. The women of the party were tenderly bred, used to comforts and abundance and able still to command them when they left their homes. They were called Puritans. They looked to God, and to His Word as the sole and universal directory in opposition to the religious controversies of the period, which they considered of human contrivance.

They had nearly all been liberally educated, and were men of large fortune and broad intellignance. So much for the men on the Massachusetts Bay Colony, of which Robert Seely was a member.

After while, as they grew in strength, they determined to send out Colonists of their own, and efforts were made in 1635, to Colonize upon the "fresh." (Now called the River Connecticut.). They had many of them settled at Watertown, Mass., where Sir Richard Saltonstall's party. Among them was my ancestor Robert Seely, who was one of those by whom the New Haven Colony was settled. He held the rank of Captain, which at that time was equivalent to Commander inChief.

In the Autumn of 1637, New Haven Colony was founded, and on what is now Meadow and Church Streets, a hut was erected, and a few of the members of the colony remained there during the winter. Whether Robert Seely was among them or not, I am unable to say, but as Captain, I presume he was.

In March, 1638, the remainder of the Colony sailed from Boston, and two weeks after arrived at Quinnipiac. For the tract of land ten miles north and south, thirteen east and west, they paid the Indians, thirteen coats, and allowed them liberty to hunt within the lands. "The New Haven Colonists were the most enlightened and wealthy which came from England to this country and they designed to plant a Capitol City, and laid out the town plot in squares; intended for a great and elegant city. In the center was a beautiful square. The Dutch called New Haven, Red Mount, the Indian name was Quinnipiac." Where Robert Seely went, or whether he remained at New Haven, and died there I have not ascertained. It seems he was married to Mary, widow of Benj. Turney.* She survived him. They had two sons, Nathaniel and Obadiah. The former was quite prominent as a soldier, having lost his life at the storming of Ft. Narragansett, in the King Phillip War. He left a large family. Hollister, in his Hostory of Conn., says the Conn., colony sent 500 Englishmen and 50 Pequot Indians in five companies under charge of Captain Seely, Gallup, Mason, and others. This brave corps of soldiers was under command of Major Trent. Josiah Winslow, Governor, of Plymoth Colony, was the Commander in Chief of the expedition. Captain Seely and Gallup were shot dead in front of their respective companies."

But to return to Capt. Robert Seely. I find in Hollister's Conn., this mention of him. "Roll of Deputies to the Court of Conn., from April 1640, to the union with New Haven Colony, 1665. Captain Seely, Deputy, 1664, one term." "Previous to 1654 the military office in the Colony was that of Captain (Hollister) "List of gentlemen who are designated upon the Colonial record of Conn., with the prefix of Master, (or Mr.), previous to the union of that colony with New Haven, 1665, including those who bore military titles of a nearly equal rank. "Mr. Seely 1636". (Hollister

Then under the head of "Family names of the planters of the Colony of Conn., and New Haven, previous to their union in 1665," appears the name of Seeley (Hollister). From all this we may judge that the Seelys or Seeleys, as some of them choose to spell the name, were men of some note, both in civil and military life.

Last summer I copied from Hatfields History of Elizabeth, the following account of Robert Seely's wanderings, which I have condensed as follows: Robert Seely came probably from England, with Winthrop. He was at Watertown, Mass., in 1630. Was employed as surveyer in 1634. Came to Whethersfield, Conn., in 1636. Was a Lieutenant in the Pequot War, in 1637. Was one of the first settlers of New Haven in 1639. Returned to England about 1646, Came back and joined the Delaware Colony that was driven off by the Dutch, in 1651. Had command of the troops raised by New Haven to resist the Dutch in 1654. Was at Saybrooke, Conn., in 1662, and later at Hungington, D. I., in charge, of the Militia, in 1663,

"Note Robert Seely married Mary Mason, S. Stephen's Church, London, 1626, Nathaniel, his son married, Mary Turney. W. G. S.

and was in New York, 1664. The next year, he united, (1665) with Ogden and others in settling Elizabethtown. His home lot contained six acres, bounded by Rev. Jeremiah Peck, Mill Creek, and the Parson's lot. Nathaniel Seely of Fairfield, Conn., was a son by his first wife. In December 1656 he married Nancy Walker of New York. He died inestate in October 1668, and his widow sold his lands to Governor Carteret.

OBADIAH SEELY

Obadiah and Mary Seely were my great,great,great, great, grand parents. When they were born, what was Mary's name and when they died, I know not, but they appear to have resided at Stanford, Conn., and Obadiah died in 1657, leaving three children, Obadiah, Jonas, and Cornelius. Mary, wife of Obadiah, survived her husband.

JONAS SEELY

Jonas, one of these sons of Obadiah and Mary Seely had Jonas, Martha, Susanna, Samuel, Ebenezer, Nathaniel, Eliphalet, and Sarah. The three oldest of these died prior to 1721.

SAMUEL SEELY

Samuel, son of Jonas, was my great, great,grand father, and was probably born at Stanford. In 1712, he removed to Orange County New York. He had a large family. His sons were Samuel, Charles, Christopher, Jonas. Christopher lived at Acquackmech, N. J., and "begat" sons and daughters. One, a Col. Sylvanus Seely after the Revolution lived near Madison, N. J., where his great grand daughter, Mrs. McDougall still lives. Sylvanus Seely Ward a great grand son. The son Samuel was in the Revolution and afterward appointed Judge. He was brother of Jonas Seely, my great grand father, (Note- This Samuel was a son of Christopher Seely, and not Samuel, the brother of Jonas.).

JONAS SEELY

In the year 1752, Jonas Seely, my great grandfather began to be prominent in public matters in Berks County, Pa., Previous to this, I know nothing about him. Most of the information I have respecting him, I obtained from Rupp's History of Berks County. From 1752, to 1770, he was a Justice of the Court, and was County Treasurer from 1752, to 1768.

In 1755, Conrad Weiser in a letter to James Read, of Reading Pa., writes, "I pray you beware of confusion-be calm, you and Mr. Seely, and act the part of fathers to the people. I know you are both able, but excuse me for giving this caution-times require it." In the same year, he is named in a letter to Gov. Morris about Indian matters. In 1755 Jonas Seely is mentioned in a letter to Governor Morris in relation to Indian matters by Conrad Weiser. In 1756, he is shown on a list of taxables of Crumru township.

In 1763, Jonas Seely writes a letter dated Reading, in which he says, "We are all in a state of alarm. Indians have destroyed villages and murdered with savage hostility their helpless inmates, even in the neighborhood of Reading. Where these Indians came from and where going, we know not. These are dangerous times, Send us armed forces to aid our rangers of Berks, and Levanon." This letter was laid before the Assembly 16 Sept.1763, (Lancaster Intelligencer and Journal.).

In 1763, he again writes telling of the attack on the house of Frans Kubler and the next day on the house of John Pinscher, where the Indians murdered the families and burned these homes. During the years of his residence in Berks County, Jonas Seely held many public offices, and was prominent in many ways. His name appears on some papers in one of the public offices at Reading, where the title of the "King's Woodranger", is added. He held 21 public offices under King George the 2nd, and was a Colonel under him.

His letters written in the quaint old fashioned style of the day, show he was a man of intelligence and education, while the immence numbers of acres he owned bespeak of him a person of wealth. His residence at Sinking Spring was considered elegant and substantial and the large estate that surrounded it was most valuable. His wife, whose maiden name I do not know, but who was the widow Hartley when he married her, was a "grand lady", so I was told by a very old lady in Lancaster, who had lived at Reading when she was young, and had either seen herself, or heard about the lavish manner in which the Seely's lived. She told me that "Col. Seely's" chariot was the wonder of the country, and that Seely's Kitchen was proverbial on account of its untidy condition. No doubt the "Grand Lady" trusted her housekeeping to the slaves, that they owned. Certain it is they were wealthy and were among the grandees of their day.

Sinking Spring is a short distance from Reading and is quite a large and flourishing town, "These Springs" Says Rupp, "are quite a natural curiosity to those who are not familiar with the circumstances attending large springs in limestone regions. The water here rises and falls again in the same basin, which is very deep, thence finding its way again under ground through fissures and caverns in the lime stone rock, probably once more to seek the light of day, in some other place." The scenery about Sinking Spring is beautiful, while the land is fertile.

Jonas Seely was elected a vestryman of (St.?) Mary's Church, Reading. This was the first Episcopal Church founded there. When Jonas forsook the faith of his forefather, Capt. Robert Seely, does not appear, but I take it for granted his and my ancestors were Puritans and he came over with a Puritan party,-the Winthrop Colony.

Jonas Seely's name disappears from public life about the year 1770, although he lived for some years after that.

That he was living at Sinking Spring when the War of the Revolution began I am sure, having heard my grand mother, his daughter in-law say so. He was too old to take an active part, but espoused the cause of liberty and his country. His partner, Hughes, was a Tory. This same Hughes name appears with that of Jonas Seely on many deeds recorded in Berks County. They owned what has since proved to be valuable coal lands in Schuylkill County. At one time, Aunt Vethake and myself were in hopes of recovering an immense tract at Port Clinton, Schuylkill County, but were to late as the act of limitations cut us off, and so with much more property. We compromised for some coal lands, but they were an insignificant part of Jonas Seely's vast possessions.

I have a paper in his own handwriting conveying to his son Isaac my grand father, and his son-in-law John Huling, "5000 acres of land which are laid off the waters of the Ohio River, for me by William Thompson, Esq., now Major General, and known and described on the plot of Officers lands, etc." This document is signed "Jonas Seely, 19 June, 1779, of Cumberland County, Pa.

Col. Franklin A. Seely, chief Clerk of the patent office, of Washington, D. C., and one of the descendants of Robert Seely, and of the Obadiah branch, has told me in one of his recent letters that, "In 1752, a warrent was issued to Jonas Seely of Berks County for 10,000 acres of land in Northhampton County, which until 1752 was a part of Berks County. One tenth of the tract which was known as the Indian Orchard Tract was required to be surveyed for the Proprietors, the Penns. The survey was made in 1769, and the plot was alloted to the Penns, amounting to one thousand acres, the remainder was allotted to Jonas Seely. It lays in several townships of what is now known as Wayne County, including the Indian Orchard. Its north course west included the southern half of the ground on which the town of Honesdale, Pa., now stands." A public square is situated on part of the tract, and the Soldiers Monument stands on the line that divided Jonas Sely's share from that of Major Terry.

Mrs. Hartley, who Jonas Seely married, was I think, though I am hot certain, a Miss Pepperill, Henrietta Pepperill, and Aunt Vethake always insisted that she was the daughter orddescendant of Sir William Pepperill. I am not prepared to say she was. Mrs. H.Hartley's son, Col. Thomas Hartley, was a distinguished man and a member of the first and second U. S. Congress. Her children by Jonas Seely were Isaac, my grandfather, and Henrietta, (should be Sarah, not Henrietta,)who married Major Huling of the Revolution. At the time of her brother's marriage, the Hulings lived at Silver Springs, Pa., and afterward removed to Lycoming County, where many descendants still reside.

When, or where Mrs. Seely died I do not know. Great grand father, Jonas Seely went to reside with his son, Isaac in Lycoming, and I have often heard grandmother speak of the old gentlemen who was very aged, and the most amiable, lovely character, devoted to her and her children. He was about 90 yrs., when he died, but when or where I can not say ISAAC SEELY[6], Jonas[5], Sam[4], Jonas[3], Obed.[2] Rob.

Isaac Seely, my grandfather, the only son of Jonas Seely was born at Sinking Spring, near Reading, Pa., I do not know the date of his birth, but I think it was probably about 1757 or 1758, as I have heard Grandma, his widow, say he was about eighteen, when the war of the Revolution began. He went to school in Reading, his servant and himself riding there daily on horseback, putting up at the best hotel and dining there. His parents were wealthy and he was an only son.

When the Revolution broke out he raised a Company of Volunteers and was appointed one of its officers. He was in the battle of Germantown, Trenton, and Princeton and was detained after peace was declared to guard prisoners of War at either one of these places. Princeton I heard, I think.

At Valley Forge, he spent that memorable winter of severe suffering with the Army, and I heard from Grandma how "Isaac's military coat, being in tolerably good condition was borrowed daily by his less fortunate fellow officers, and made its appearance at Headquarters on men of large and small dimensions, regardless alike as to its fit. Fortunately Grandfather was of medium size.

Here let me tell you something about my Grandmother in her connection with Grandfather's Seelys experience at Valley Forge. All have heard of the hardships endured by our troops that winter, their want of clothes, their shoeless feet, and the State unable to provide money to buy even the commonest comforts for them. Grandfather advanced funds receiving from the State of Pa., its promise to pay. He was wealthy and so did not apply to the state for payment of the debt, which was of considerable amount. After his death, his widow and children having lost much property were comparatively poor, and Grandmother presented her claims to the Legislature. Winter after winter a bill was prepared and passed by it, acknowledging the debt and granting her the amount due, but as a "gratuity", a compensation for her husbands services. This did not suit her and twenty one times in as many years, did she reject the offer declaring she would never accept it until differently worded. At length through dint of perseverance and the influence of certain members of the Legislature, she obtained her just due, and the Bill was drawn to suit her. Nicholus Biddle of the U. S. Bank fame, was one of her best friends, while a Mr. Bradley, one of the legislators from the western part of Pa., did her a great service. Mr. Bradley had when a youth been a servant of my Gramdfathers, and felt grateful to him for having been kind to him, and assisted him to a better position.

This was originally Hugh Brawley. One thing I regret which is that Grandma presented Mr. Bradley with a sash, worn by her uncle, Capt. William Hendricks, who fell at Quebec with Genl. Montgomery, and whose dead body was carried in it from the field of battle.

It ought to have been preserved in the family as an heirloom. The reason assigned by the legislature for not granting the Bill, as originally drawn, was that, granting it thus formed, it would prove a precedent for other claimants to apply. I may as well remark here that the money grants Grandmother received/ was placed in the Agricultural Bank of Carlisle which shortly after failed, and she lost it all.

About my Grandfathers sister, I know little. I think her christian name was Henrietta. When almost a child she married Major John Huling, who later served in the Revolution, and resided at the time of her brother's marriage to Elizabeth Galbraith near Silver Springs, Lower Settlement, Cumberland County. Her oldest son, Sealy Huling, was only 14 yr., younger, than his mother. She had several sons, James, John, Coleman, etc. Her descendants, many of them still live in Lycoming County, Pa.

But to return from this long digression. I cannot tell what year Isaac Seely married Elizabeth Galbraith, but I have heard of the circumstances attending that event. After the death of hermmother, Elizabeth lived with her grandparents, Tobias and Mary Hendricks, who resided on a fine farm near Silver Springs, Cumberland Co., They had strict ideas, and were opposed to an alliance with Major Seely because he had been an Army officer, and was gay and dashing, and they supposed must consequently be dissipated. This was not so. But their consent was refused, and a runaway occured. Elizabeth, who was in the habit of seeing her Grandma safe in bed, one pleasant evening performed this duty carefully and deposited the keys of which she had charge, in the bureau, kissed the old lady goodnight and forewith set out for a short walk. She was soon met by the Major with a carriage, and as previously arranged was driven to Mrs. Hulings, his sisters house, where the Parson was ready to make them one. The announcement of the event was made without delay to the Grandparents, who at once relented and invited the bride and groom to their house. Here they remainedd until it was time to begin their journey to Lycoming County, where Major Seely owned much property and was making improvements.

The journey was made on horseback through the wilderness. I have heard Grandmother tell how handsome she was attired for the occasion. A jaunty hat with waving plumes, etc. Grandfather's servant man rode behind them carrying in a pair of saddlebags such articles of clothing as were needed enroute while the rest of their baggage was sent from Harrisburg by boat. They rode thru tangled woods and over almost before untrodden paths. Grandfather wishing to prepare the bride for the rough life that was to follow when they would reach their home, had taken her by bye ways, and through lonely places over rocks and thru briars. At that early day, even the few highways that existed were in poor condition and it is hard to imagine what discomforts attended by traveling by the bye ways. However, the pair reached Larry's Creek at last, but only after many days of hard travel. Their future home was a log cabin, with flooring of unplained boards, small windows, and scanty furniture.

Imagine the brides feelings! The home she left was substantial and handsome, for the Hendricks were wealthy, and were accustomed to the best of everything. She was unhappy, the change too great, and frequent tears were indulged in. Grandfather, seeing the state of things, tried in every possible way to comfort her, but all in vain, so after sometime he tried another expedient. Putting on a stern look, he told her he had never deceived her, that he had done the best he could, and under the circumstances and now knowing no other way in which to remedy matters, he though she had better return to her Grandparents and leave him alone. This was enough! There ended her misery for she had no wish to part from the man she loved.

Forthwith she set to work to make the humble cabin look more presentable and homelike. Muslin curtains were made out of some of her skirts- cornices for them manufactured out of pieces of boards, which she covered with paper upon which she painted flowers and leaves, her materials for which were made out of poke berries, and green coffee grains soaked in water. A rough cupboard graced one corner of the room, and therin was displayed her stock of china and glass ware. In short, the wee home was made attractive after a rude fashion and constant occupation was found to be an effectual remedy for home sickness. Soon, two very kind neighbors, the Misses Duffy, came to her, became devoted friends after a time and she no longer was without female society.

Several of my Grandfather's old friends, fellow officers during the War, made their way up to Lycoming County and many an hour was wiled away in their company. Then my father was born and two years after, his sister, Eliza. In due time these children were to be baptised and a clergy visiting that neighborhood was asked to perform the ceremony. Grandmother, I think, was a member of the Presbyterian Church at the time, but Grandfather had never made a profession of religion. The old Divine began to enquire into matters and wished to know what his believe was. His reply was this- "My creedis to do justly, love mercy and to walk humbly before God." If that satisfies you, baptise the children, if not, why let it alone." The children were baptised.

Meanwhile, Great Grandfather Jonas Seely was living with his son, and great was the comfort he was to his daughter-in-law. She always spoke of him as a pattern of all that was good and amiable. He outlived his son and removed from Larry's Creek with Grandmother, but whether he went with her to Harrisburg, I cannot say.

Grandfather Seelys health was bad for several years, before his death. He suffered from rhuematism brought on by exposure during the War. At times he was unable to walk and often when his servant was out of the way, Grandmother carried him from his bed to his chair. She was a strong, healthy woman. He died before he was fifty, but I do not know his exact age. At his own request, he was buried on his own property on Larry's Creek, or as it is marked on some maps as Seely's (Ban?). I have visited the spot which is beautifully situated on a hill covered with wide spreading trees. No stone markes the spot where repose the remains of that kind father and husband, a dutiful son, and a true Patriot. Much I regret that when it was in my power to do so, I neglected to place at least a simple monument over his graves.

I have heard "Major Seely" as Grandmother called him, described as a man of medium height, slight frame, very dark complexion, hair and eyes, large nose, and handsome mouth.

His activity before he became rhuematic was remarkable. He could jump from the floor, and with his foot knock down a fork placed over a high door. He was a rich man, owned much property in Lycoming County, and other parts of Pa.

His Diploma as a member of the Cincinnati Society is now in my possession. It shows that he served as a commission officer from the beginning to the end of the Revolution, with honor and was in circumstances to contribute to the common fund which helped so many widows and orphans. George Totten Smith, if his life is spared until he is of age, will be entitled to become a member of this Society- an honor which I trust he will appreciate. The eldest surviving son of this branch of the Seely family in perpetuity, is entitled to membership. It is considered a singular fact that both my grand fathers, Isaac Seely and William Gray were members of a Society which under its rules, embraced but those officers, who had served with honor from the beginning to the end of the War, and were rich enough to contribute a certain amount of money for the benefit of needy members, widows and orphans.

NOTE: In the Trinity Lutheran Church, Reading Pa., is the record of Isaac Seely, son of Jonas and Hannah Seely, born 20 Nov. 1757, baptised 9 Apr. 1758.

From S. Gabriel's Church of Douglassville, with a missionary located at Reading and (Molattin?), is shown the name of Jonas Seely as "Church Warden." In this Church is shown Sarah Seely "born at Reading Towne" 14 Jan. 1753, and Bapt. 5 Apr. 1753, and her marriage to John Huling, 23 June, 1767.

Seely Huling, their son, born in the " Towne of Lebanon," Lancaster Co., 20 June, 1766, and bapt. by Rev. Alexander Murray, Missionary, 13 Aug. 1768.

Under date of 31 Dec. 1773, Helena, dau. of John and Sarah Huling of Reading, Bapt. She was born 15 Apr. 1776.

In this same Church we find the marriage of Sylvanus Seely and Jane Williamson of Berks County by the Rev. Alexander Murray, 26 Mar. 1769. Sylvanus was the son of Christopher, brother of Jonas Seely. "WGS" 1939.

GRANDMOTHER SEELY

Elizabeth Galbraith was the daughter of Robert and Mary Galbraith. Her mother's maiden name was Mary Hendricks. I have told already of Elizabeth's marriage to Isaac Seely and of some of the incidents of her life in the wilds of Wyoming. I will here tell of the trials and troubles endured by the early settlers, and relate some anecdotes told me by herself.

Provisions of all kinds, except what was raised on the farm in the neighborhood were only to be procured at Harrisburg. They were brought in canoes up the Susquehanna River and only at certain seasons could this be done, for sometimes the water was high and sometimes too low for navigation. In the winter the ice was an impediment and rarely a boat loaded with supplies- coffee, sugar, tea, salt, pepper and other common necessaries of life- long looked for and anxiously desired, would sink and then there being no alternative, another long waiting would follow, and more articles ordered again from Harrisburg would arrive, only to be so damaged and unfit for use that they had to be thrown away. Pork was the meat most eaten, for nearly all could raise hogs, where acorns abounded in the woods.

It may interest my Grandchildren to know that there were Indians in the neighborhood, and that their great grandparents suffered through fear of them, as well as from want of many of the common comforts of life. She too, who had been accustomed to abundance and even luxury in her former home with her adopted parents, Tobias and Mary Hendricks. Pork, as I have said before, was their chief dependance in the way of meat, well, one day, it was spring, after Grandfather's death, the family was increased by Madam Sow, who presented them with a large litter of pigs. Of course, there was much rejoicing for the winter's meat was provided for, and though they might have no fresh meat, few vegetables, and only rye bread to eat, still there was no fear of starvation. Alas-las! As spring advanced both mother and her flock took to the woods and finally disappeared. Autumn came and then a severly cold winter. Indians were reported as threatening an inroad upon them, and the outlook was anything but cheerful. One of Grandmother's good friends Miss Duffy came to stay with her, and try to cheer her loneliness.

Just before Christmas,, a peculiar noise was heard one night--the Indians was their first thought, very stealthily they crept to the window, and there, much to their amazement and delight, was the long lost family, all well grown, and in fine condition. It was not long before Miss Duffy, and Grandmother were down in the yard, deep in snow, laying a train of corn with which to allure them into the stable. Once there, all was right and the two friends returned to bed with thankful hearts. Visions of hams, bacon, sausages, spare ribs and other luxuries of the season no doubt flitted through their dreams that night.

How long after my Grandfather's death, she remained in Lycoming County, I do not know, but Jonas Seely lived with her up to the time of her removal to Harrisburg. Her marriage to Dr. Hunt, I think must have taken place while whe was living on Larry's Creek, as his family resided there. Through this second marriage, came many misfortunes to the family, for Dr. Hunt proved to be a dissipated, unscrupulous man, though well born, elegant in appearance and manners and withal well educated. Much of my fathers and his sisters property fell into his hands, and through false orders, of Orphan's Court, sale procured by him and a man named Billington, was sold the proceeds going into his and his partners pockets. Dr. Hunt practiced medicine in Harrisburg. He died there, leaving his widow poor. After his death, she removed to Carlisle, where many of her relatives were. Here for some years, was obliged to keep boarders. Among her boarders was Mr. Vothake, then Professor of Mathematics in Dickinson College.

To him I owe my education. He was as a father to me. No better man ever lived. His father was a Prussian, his mother a Hollander. His grandfather was a General under Frederick the Great and was once ambassador to England. After an engagement of fourteen years Mr. Vethake and my Aunt Eliza were married. He was Provost of the University of Pa., at the time of Grandmother's death, and resided in Phila. She was on her way there to reside when her death occured in Lancaster, Pa., at my mother's house. She died either in 1835, or 1837, somewhere between seventy and eighty years of age. She was buried in the Church Yard attached to the German Ref. Church. My step-father, Rev. Martin Bruner, being the Pastor.

I remember what a handsome old lady she was-above the medium height, straight and well formed. Her eyes were dark brown, her complexion florid, her features good. Not many years before her death, her hair was dark, without a single grey hair, and teeth perfect. She had lost but one. This was perhaps owing to her having double teeth all around, front as well as back. For many years she was a member of the Presbyterian Church but late in life became an Episcopalian. She, my Aunt and myself were all confirmed at the same time by Bishop Caderdonk in Carlisle. She had two sisters, Ann, adopted after her mothers death, by mygreat grandparents, Tobias and Mary Hendricks. The other sister whose christian name I do not know married a Mr. Wad, living in Georgia.

ROBERT GALBRAITH SEELY

My father, Robert Galbraith Seely, was born on Larry's Creek, Lycoming Co., Pa., somewhere towards the close of the last century but I have no exact record of the date. He was educated at Harrisburg. In 1808 he was commissioned Ensign in the U. S. Army and in 1809 was promoted to a second Lieutenancy. I have both his commissions signed by President Thomas Jefferson and the other by President Monroe.

At the time of his receiving his appointment, it was not an easy matter to obtain one. The Army was very small, was called the Peace Establishment, and was chiefly made up of sons of Revolutionary Officers. During the War of 1812, his regiment, the 2nd Infantry, was stationed at Mobile, Ala., but the climate injuring his health, he was sent to Sunbury on recruiting service. I do not know what year he married my mother, whose maiden name was Mary Gray, nor do I know if he was at home at the time of my birth, Jan. 22, 1811. His death occured when I was but eighteen months old. There were some cases of Typhus fever in town, and one of the sub-officers died. The funeral took place on Sunday, and it was while buring him with military honors, my father was seized with a chill. On Monday, a physician was called, who at once bled him profusely, forbade stimulants and so reduced his strength that when Judge Gibson, who had seen how typhus was treated in Philadelphia, called to see him, and ordered brandy and beef tea, it was too late. He never rallied, and on Thursday night he died. The Judge who was a cousin by marriage, always after spoke of his having been murdered, by the M. D.

Some hours before his death, he called Aunt Liberty to him, and told her he had received mardhing orders and was to start at eight o'clock. The march was a short one, "up hill and all would be over." He told her he wished her to get from his bureau a certain suit of white clothes, and have them ready to be put on him. At eight precisely, he died, and his request about his clothes was obeyed. He was buried with the honors of War, and of Masonry in the old graveyard at Sunbury. His tombstone says he was in his 25th year. His sister always said he was only 23. He was remarkably handsome, indeed Col. Clement Biddle of Phila., told me he was the handsomest officer in the Regiment, his plume overtopping all the others. Tall was he, six feet two in his stockings. He was very dark, straight, and well formed, had a clear olive complexion, very dark eyes, handsome mouth and wavy dark hair. His nose was large, but well formed. I had two likenesses of said to be good. They were both profiles and a miniature of him him on ivory was painted by a friend and fellow officer, the other was a cabinet size, and done by an artist whose name I never knew. The outline of our sons, Henry Vethake Totten face as also that of our daughter Hallie, or Nellie, are very like their Grandfathers.

My father had but one sister, Eliza, who married Prof. Henry Vethake. Never were two children more unlike in appearance and disposition, so said their mother. Robert was amiable and easily managed, while Eliza was just the contrary. My father had his peculiarities one of which was his indifference as to his dress, or rather his unwillingness to appear in any new dress, and his dislike to any illusion being made to his appearance. When quite young, Grandma had made him a new suit which he was well pleased with, until one of the little darkies remarked, "Why massa Bob, where did you get dat nice short gown."

*NOTE Robert G. Seely was made a Mason in Lodge #22, Sunbury Pa., 21 Nov. 1809, Capt. William Grey, County Treas. father of Mary Gray was also a member. UG3.

In a moment it was off, and assigned to the flames. A new uniform was a torment to him, and no matter what it cost, was rubbed against any wall or post that was convenient until the shine was off, and it looked old. His sister, was on the contrary, extravagantly fond of dress, and I must say, always showed taste and judgement in selecting it. She was adopted by her mother's sister, Ann, who was married to James Pollock, and resided at Carlile, Pa. " Having no children of their own, they seemed to devote themselves to trying to spoil the little girl, who was remarkably smart. She had her maid, whose special duty was to wait on her, dress her, put on her shoes and stockings and do her bidding at all times. Sophie, her maid used to visit her years after and amuse us by telling of "Miss Eliza's pranks". How she would insist on sitting at table with her uncle who was blind, and drink wine until she had to be carried to bed. Would twist and untwist the old gentleman's que until he would send, or sent her to stop, when she would exclaim, "Why you old fool, you never looked as well in your life". Would ask for money when she wanted, and would be told to feel in his pocket, and take what she wanted. Such was the training of one who had extravagant taste, and at a very early age showed an unusual fondness for dress.

When but two years old, Grandmother's sister, Mrs. Pollock, having sent to Lycoming for her nieces and nephews, handsome clothing, Eliza was attired in her new outfit to see how they would fit, hat and feather on her head, and other garments to correspond, all too elegant for the woods, and the wilds where they lived, she took her seat in her little rocking chair and neither persuasion nor threats would induce her to be undressed.

There she sat until finally at a late hour, sleep overcame her, and she was disrobed. She was a woman of superior abilities, though her early education had been neglected because of her delicate health. She was fond of reading, was familiar with poets and novelists of the day, as well as with more substantial reading. She was very impulsive, very kind to children, generous to a fault, but had a temper which had never been controlled in youth, and which was at times, hard upon those who were near her. She was remarkably entertaining and witty. After her husband's death in Phila., she came to New York and resided with me until we went to Europe, June 1869. She died while we were there, and is buried at New Brunswick, N. J., beside her husband.

MARY GRAY

My mother was the daughter of Captain William Gray. Her mother's maiden name was Mary Brady. Seh was born in Sunbury, Pa. I do not know the exact date. She was married to my father, Robert G. Seely when very young, and was living with my grandmother Gray when I was born, 22 Jan. 1811.

My father died when I was 18 months old, and my mother remained a widow until I was about six, when she married the Rev. Martin Bruner of Philadelphia, who was Pastor of the German Reformed Church in Sunbury.

I was with them until after the birth of their first child, William, who was killed at Fredicksburg, Va., during the War of the Rebellion, or Revolution. The rest of my life, until I was married, was spent with my father's mother and sister at Carlisle.

By Mr. Bruner, my mother had three children, a little girl who died in infancy, William and Charles, who still lives. He married a Louisa Weiser of Sunbury. He has two children, Mary and William. By profession, Charles is a lawyer, but since President Grants first term, he has been at the head of the Internal Revenue Department of the district which comprise several Counties in Pa. My mother died at his house in 1866, and was buried in the graveyard at Sunbury. She was a remarkably bright and witty woman, brilliant in conversation, a beauty when young, admired and sought after, had a lovely voice and sang well and had much talent for drawing and painting. She was greatly beloved by her friends, a very kind mother, good to the poor, always cheerful, even when the days were dark. I never knew a more truly sunshiney disposition. Both at Hanerstown, Md., and Lancaster, Pa., where Mr. Bruner was for several years Pastor of Churches, she had a host of friends. My father's mother was devotedly fond of her. For some five or six years before her death she was blind, having a cataract over both her eyes.

He came to Friendship when 14, and later lived in Almond, resided in Bradford, Pa., from '49, to '78, when they came to Angelica in Sept. When 17, Mr. Osgood became nearly blind from cataract of the eyes, and until '75, was scarcely able to perceive daylight. Through the intercession of a friend, he was induced to go to Elmira, where Dr. Updegraf performed one of the most difficult operations ever known to science, restoring an almost clear sight. We mention this, because of the 32 years of nearly total blindness, which Mr. Osgood so patiently bore, and so fortunately recovered from. He is now retired from a successfull career as an undertaker and furniture dealer."

P. 467 Amity "Frank Van Campen, son of William Hanford, and Amanda Knight Seely Van Campen, was born in 1845."

Their children were Ambrose, now in Ill., Sarah A., died in Mich., Mandana, died in Iowa, Mary, dec., and Lyman E., born in Angelica in 1845, where his father settled before 1820, and was a deacon of the Baptist Church over 40 years. He came to Allen in 1870, and died in 1882. Lyman E. Chaffee married 1868, Ann Seeley, children, Nettie and Kate. The latter, Mrs. William H. Freeborn, is now of Akron, Ohio, Mrs. Chaffee died in 1870, and his second wife was Livonia, daughter of Joel Winship, of Angelica. They have one child, Bruce."

Dear Mrs. White,

Your letter of Sat. arrived today. I was pleased to get it. Thank you for mentioning my name to Mrs. Carlson. When I write to her, I will give your name as that of the person who referred me to her. I have written again to Reuben M. Seeley, son of Herbert Harrington Seely, to see whether he can recall more about his parents. A few more dates would be acceptable. I have not heard one word from his niece who was supposed to have the Family Bible. If she does not have it, it would not require much time or effort to so advise me. If she has it, more time would be required to make a copy of the records in it, but she could send a few lines either stating that she would not give away or even sell a copy or that she was too busy now to make a copy, but would do it later and send it to me.

Since my last letter to you, I have heard again from Mrs. Lloyd J. Robertson of Phillipsburg, Kansas. It seems that neither she nor her husband has a Seelye line. It is her Minister's wife who has one. She and the Minister's wife were college classmates. This friend is now Mrs. John E. Filinger of Phillipsburg, Kansas, and is just beginning her search for Seelye ancestry. Mrs. Robertson is trying to help her unravel the mystery. Mrs. Robertson wrote, "Ive been state officerin D. A. R., D. F. P. A., and D. A. C., and am vice president of our state D. A. R. Officers Club, was national chairman D. A. R. Student Loan Fund, 1929, 32, and am State Press and Publicity chairman for federated clubs now." Perhaps she will prove a helpful source of information on this Nathaniel Seelye line. Mrs. Robertson wrote that she sent a little, which came from a member of the Seelye family and was copied from their family records. She did not name this person, so I will ask for the P. O. Address, when I reply to her letter. She wrote "I have two friends who have made extensive Seelye research, but neither of them happen to have the link that would connect her line with theirs, tho' theirs came from the same locality. They are Mrs. Alfred Barnes Seelye, N. Buckeye St., Abilene, Kansas, whose daughter Marian Seelye is a vice-president general of D. A. R., and Miss Harriet Scofield, 10,838 Deering Ave., Cleveland Ohio." I know that the former are placed in your records. How about the Cleveland lady? Perhaps I can uncover what Mrs. Adriance wants. I seem to have quite a bit of success in discovering elusive records either by my own work, or through correspondence with friends to whom I have made known my desire.xx I'm taking up points in your letter as I come to them, hence the apparent break in Genealogical trend.

If Mr. Kinne was able to help Mrs. Seeley, of Texas, I am pleased to have enabled her to get in touch with him by sending you his P. O. Address. I believe that I have at last replied to your latest letter, so I will now proceed to send you some good news.

A letter came this A. M., from Mrs. Ridall from whom I had not heard for quite some time. It seems that she is making a button collection and had heard of a woman in Seattle, Wash., who was interested in a Button Club there so she wrote to her. This woman was a Miss Edna D. Seeley. Mrs. Ridall had no street address for her so she evidently left it to the P. M., to supply it. Well, the letter fell into the lands of a Mrs. Edna M. Seely, who opened it. She wrote a nice little note to Mrs. Ridall and stated that as soon as she opened the letter, she knew it was not for her. She stated that she knew very little as to Genealogy, (Seely), but that her name had been Knapp and that they all came from N. Y. State. I do not know whether her husband is living. Anyway, she got in touch with a brother of her husbands who lives in Olympia, Wash. Strange to relate, he turned out to be Rev. Clarence B. Seely, a Retired Minister of the Methodist Church, Pacific Northwest Conference, whose P. O. address is 123 Cushing St., Olympia, Wash. Stranger still, he proved to be the Clarence Seely, son of Darius and grandson of Hiram and hence a cousin of Judge Fred Mix, of Rochester, N. Y. He is, therefore the very man about whom you wished to learn more. I was possibly mistaken about not knowing whether his brother was living because Mrs. Ridall sent me a list of Seeleys, etc. copied from the Seattle, Wash. C. D., of 1932 and I find that Edna M. Seely is given as the wife of Loren (5590) H. Seely. He may have died since the C. D. was issued. A son Wallace Seely was listed as a student. I will now try to find out whether Oscar, John and George A., brothers of Loren H. and Rev. Clarence B. Seely are living, or, if dead, how I can get in touch with their descendants. I hope to get ahead a little more on this line. Of course, you have read about the death of Daniel Carter Beard and doubtless recalled that his son, Daniel Bartlett Beard, was the one who married a LeMessurier girl whose mother was a Seely before marriage. I hope to secure the P. O. address of Mrs. D. B. Beard so I can learn whether she has secured any more about her Seely lineage. Her mother has a Family Bible and is aware of my desire for Seely records, yet she does not send them. This whole tribe is dilatory, but I's like to have as much of their line in the Seeley Genealogy as it is possible for me to secure. Rev. C. B. Seely mentioned a Mrs. K. W. Post, of 1011 S. E. 60th St., Portland, Ore., as a Seely, from the East, and stated that she was interested. Can you place her? I will find out whether Mrs. Ridall plans to write to these Seely persons before I do it, or give you the clear signal to go ahead with it your self. Have you ever corresponded with Leslie D. Seely, son of John Roe and Lillian Frances (Kinney) Seely, whose P. O. address is 154 South St. Eatontown, New Jersey? He already has this. I have spent much time and effort in vain. I guess you have the following records secured by Mrs. Ault from Margaret R. Hitchcock, Curator, Edward Hitchcock, Memorial Room, Morgan Hall Amherst College, Amherst, Mass.

I. William James Seelye, b. 10 Apr. 1857
d. 26 Mar. 1931,
md. 1 Sept. 1886, Mary Alice Clarke.

Children:
Laurens Hickok
d. Katherine E. (Mrs. Benj. B. Wallace
d. Julius
(If d. indicates daughter, an error was made in calling Julius a daughter."

II. Elizabeth James Seelye, b. 26 Oct. 1862
d. 10 Apr. 1894
md. Aug. 4, 1891, James Wilson Bixler.

Children:
Julius Seelye Bixler, Elizabeth Seelye Bixler, James Wilson Bixler, and Herbert Bixler.

III. Anna Hawley Seelye, b. 19 Sept. 1866
d.
md. Benj. K, Emerson.

Children:
Elizabeth Emerson (Mrs. Lambert F. Whetstone).
Henry Seelye, no dates or placement, probably you know whether he belongs in this line.

IV. Mabel, b. 14 Oct. 1871,
d. 2 July, 1919.
md. 7 Sept. 1898.

Miss Margaret R. Hitchcock, Curator, wrote, "If you wish any more information about the next generation, may I refer you to Miss S. Crissy Brown, 67 Nash St., Bridgeport, Conn., Mrs. Emerson, the only surviving child of Pres. Seelye has just sent to her all the information about this branch. Some day I am going to bring Mrs. Emerson down to Bethel for her to renew her old memories of early visits, and then maybe we could call on you, and you find out material first hand." This letter was dated 25 Mar. 1941, so it is only a few months old. On a small slip in Mrs. Ridall's letter was this, "Canisteo, N. Y. (Steuben Co.) Canisteo Times, Stevian Seeley, 68, died at his home, farm in East Troupsburg, N. J., Sunday. (Issue of 4/24/1941, Thursday.) Had been ill a week. Survived by wife, Mrs. Villa Seeley, a dau. Evelyn Cook, a son Raymond, at home, 2 sister, Mrs. Cassie Bush, of Brigden, Ontario, Mrs. Ida Symonds, Woodhull, N. Y. Buried in Austinburg, Pa., cemetery." This was copied from a letter sent by Hallum Spencer Whitney of 2150 W. 83rd St. Cleveland, Ohio. Perhaps this is nothing new. I hope I have sent you a few helpful items in this long letter. Do write again when you can.

Very sincerely yours,
Edith C. (Robinson) Knight.

Under Jake Seeley's record, add the following as his daughter Annis' husband, Frank Edwin Dodd, b. 17 Sept. 1859, in Central Square, Oswego Co., N. Y. Add as his daughter, Ida's husband John Harvey Dodd, b. 15 Feb. 1856, in Constantia, Oswego Co., N. Y. His child Armina (not just Mina) was b. 10 Oct. 1876, in Lebanon, N. Y. I had sent you her year of birth, and death. Armina died 10 Apr. 1886, in Morrisville, N. Y. Now you have the actual dates. She is buried in Hawks Cem. in Georgetown, N. Y. as I think you know. Her parents were married on 1 Sept. 1874, in Eaton, N. Y. by Rev. Judson Davis. I have established a very good contact with Mrs. Isaac H. Dodd in whose home Margaret (Dodd) Foster's father Frank E. Dodd lives. She can get bits of information for me, and they help to make our records more complete. I believe I have at last learned why Mrs. Etta Ginney acted so peculiarly. Her mother, Jessie Seeley, bore her out of wedlock. I do not know her father's name, but he is said to have been a man of good standing in the community. She was less than three years old when her mother married John Colvin and he was probably the only "father" she knew. She probably realized that a copy of the Family Records would reveal that she was not John Colvin's child altho' she went by the name Etta Colvin. Probably she thought I might use her irregular birth to deprive her of her share in Felix E. Seeley's estate. Well, she had some of the Seeley blood in her veins and that is what counts. If the money had been from John Colvin's estate, matters would have been different, unless he had legally adopted her. I have heard that Etta (Colvin?) Ginney is living in Elmira, N. Y., but I haven't her street address. Jessie (Seeley) Colvin died in Oct. 1939. John and Jessie (Seeley) Colvin had Clara, Earl, Claude, Irving and Lloyd Colvin. I am trying to secure a good record of each of these Colvin children. If Etta was legally adopted, she would have been reckoned as their eldest child. I have Etta's birth date as 26 May, 1878. Her mother and John Colvin were married on 29 Nov. 1880.

After learning that Frank E. Dodd remembered John Glover Seeley, (d. 1884) I thought he might have known J. G. S.'s eldest son, Eugene William, who md. (1) Eva Gustin and had Clinton and Lulu Seeley. She left him and took the children with her. I thought Frank might be able to tell me where she lived after leaving home and that we could search records there and perhaps discover what became of her and her children. Thanks so much for the card that let me know you were still "alive and kicking" tho' feebly. I trust that your husband, your niece and the wee one in your household did not join you in your grippe session.

Very sincerely yours,
Edith C. (Robinson)Knight.

My dear Mrs. White:

I am eagerly writing you my latest discovery in my family history of the Seeley's. While I realize you may not feel certain, or think it possible that I do belong to this line coming down from Capt. Robert Seelye, I am giving you below an exact copy from a Hartford, New York paper the date of which must be between 1886 and before 1893. It pertains to John I. Seelye, Magistrate and Farmer and he was my Grandmother's brother. My grandmother was Electa Seelye Swain of Hartford, N. Y. John I. Seelye died in April 1893. This clipping must have been sent to my family, or rather the paper, and the clipping was marked at the top with two purple pencil lines. Here is an exact copy of the clipping:-

REPRESENTATIVE MEN OF HARTFORD
John I. Seelye, Magistrate and Farmer

"Every town has men of worth and importance, and prominence who have no desire to be known outside the limited circle in which they move. They have no aspirations for honor or emolument except that what their townsmen may offer them. Even then some are reluctant to accept official positions unless thrust upon them by the will of the people. But with capacities superior to their neighbors, and possessed of higher standards of character and of business, they are not averse to accepting duties which they are conscious of being able to adequately discharge. These are the men most needed in the emergencys that may arise in town or county affairs. Their local pride has its influence in checking extravagancies of every sort, and other follies that seem to characterize the age.

In paying our respects to Judge Seelye, we present him, as one to the "manor born". He was born in Hartford, has always lived in Hartford, and will undoubtedly remain in Hartford until summoned up higher.

Mr. Seely is of pure English origin, and traces his American descent from Capt. Robert Seelye, who came to this country, in 1630, in command of a company of British Regulars stationed at Watertown, Mass., who after rendering excellent service in the Indian wars, died in New York City, in 1666. Samuel, the great grandfather of John, was a lieutenant in the American Army at the time of the Revolutionary war, and was killed at the burning of Danbury, Conn. 1777. His grandfather, also named Samuel, emigrated from Cornwall, Conn., in 1795, and settled on Lot 100, in the northwestern part of the town, near what is known as Adamsville then an unbroken wilderness. Here he built a log cabin, and like all the pioneer settlers of the period, had to contend with the ideal wolf of poverty, as well as the real wolf of the forest. Jordan R. (the father of John) was but a mere child when his father came to this town. There he grew up to manhood and finally settled on the lot now owned by Frank McGoldrick. On this spot, in a log house with a stone chimney, the subject of our sketch first saw the light of day, 31 Jan. 1824.

Here he grew up like other boys of his day, and if there was any thing remarkable in the development of his youthful powers, it has not been divulged to the public.

His advantages of education were superior to those of most men of his time. After completing his common school studies, he attended the Granville Academy, one term, and spent a year at the Troy Conference Academy, Poultney, Vt. (I have had to guess at the town in Vermont, as part of the clipping is torn there in that word.)

My Dear Mrs. White:

Your letters have been at hand for some time and I wish to thank you for them. I have read and reread them many times, but for being unusually busy, would have replied to them sooner. What you say about Mrs. Frost's genealogical work is interesting and surprising and I shall remember in case I should have any occasion to refer to her works in the future.

I am afraid the "possible" line as given in your last letter wont work out for my Seely line, for as I figure it, how could Joseph (5) b. Orange Co., N. Y., about 1725,6, be the father of James of Stillwater, who was b. 1734-5? In 1734-5, Joseph (5) would have been but 8 to 10 years of age, certainly to young to have been the father of a son born 1734-5. We know that James of Stillwater, b. 1734-5, was the father of an "eldest son Joseph" and I still lean to the belief that this Joseph, b. perhaps about 1760 when James was 25 or 26, was the father of Joseph Jr., b. 1785. I do not believe James' "eldest son Joseph" md. Polly Newland, as you suggest, as I will now try to show. This James was born in 1734-5, Polly was born 1781, and as her first child, Elah, was born in 1803, who was probably md. about 1802, when she was aged 21. Now if James' "eldest son Joseph" was born about 1760, (when James was 25 or 26,), and married Polly Newland in 1802, he would have been 42 at the time of his marriage, and when Polly's youngest child, Reuben, was born in 1823, "eldest son Joseph", would then have been 63, neither age for fatherhood, impossible, but I do think the latter is improbable. The Joseph Seely who md. Polly certainly was Joseph, Jr., and some thing, perhaps a "hunch", keeps telling me he was the son of the Joseph enumerated in the 1790 Census, and who was, as I've said before, I believe, the eldest son of James, and which would make Joseph, Jr., an grandson of James.

The Joseph in the Stillwater 1790 Census with two sons under 16, a wife and three daughters, if born in 1760, would have been 30 years of age, in 1790, and could have been the father of Joseph Jr., b. 1785. He could also have been the father of the other four children reported in this census. If born at intervals of two years, we would then have the five children of Joseph as reported in the Census born in the following years: 1781, 1783, Joseph, Jr., 1785, 1787, and 1789, the first being born when Joseph was 21 and the fifth when Joseph was 29 years old. What do you think of this line up? Some how I cannot yet believe that James and Joseph were brothers, altho they may have been. You say the Joseph of the Census could not have been my Joseph, born 1785, and I agree, but he could have been the father of my Joseph, Jr., who born in 1785, would have been, as you say, 5 years old, in 1790, and could have been one of the two sons under 16. This is in line with your second thought that "Joseph, Jr., might have been son of Joseph of Census of 1790, "who in turn, as I've said before, I think was the eldest son of James.

There is no Newland genealogy printed that I have been able to find but I have gotten together many Newland data, and believe I have worked out the Newland line just about correct, except for the names of the children of Joseph Newland, of Stillwater, and Cayu Co., N. Y., who is supposed to have had 20 children, of which number I have the names of 9 probabilities, and am hoping to obtain more.

From the will of James Seely I believe you have his children correct as follows: youngest son, James, Jr., dau. Deborah, 21 Dec. 1765, born, d. 27 June, 1837, Stillwater, N. Y., md. Gabriel Strang, dau. md. Newland, dau. md. Robbins, dau. md. Ward, dau. md. Ferris, dau. md. Clements, youngest dau. Amya (Amy) Sayles and eldest son, Joseph.

I have obtained a photostatic copy of the will of Johannes Clements from the Court of Appeals at Albany and it is not very helpful. The children of his dau. Hannah, deceased, are named as given in the Strang Genealogy by Frost, his sons, Thomas, Tobias, and Peter, dau. "Cate, wife of Deliverance Mabey," and "Rachel, wife of Giddeon Hall", are mentioned, and he wills and bequeaths "to my three Grandchildren, namely, Thomas, Mariehe and Cornelius Clements, (the children of my Son, John Clements, deceased) xxx to be paid when they respectively come of age." I do not know which of the four sons, if any, was the husband of a dau. of James Seely. About the only thing in the whole will that may be of value, is the name of a grandson, Cornelius, which is also the name of a grandson of James Seely, and may indicate that the wife of John Clements, if a dau. of James Seely, named one of her children after a sister's child Cornelius Newland, or vice versa.

There is no will of Joseph Seely recorded in the Surrogate's

Office in Saratoga Co., or Cayuga Co. I have not inquired in Onondaga Co., where I have found there was a Seeley family living near Spafford and a Seely family near Marcellus, both of which places are not far from Sempronius in Cayuga Co.

The more I delve into this matter the more I'm inclined to believe that your "hunch" that my line belongs to the Orange Co. family is correct. And, a son of Warren, son of Joseph, Jr., was named Charles, which seems to lend some support to that belief.

You spoke of a Holly Seely and among my notes, I have the following: "James F. Seeley, of Ypsilanti, Washtenaw, Co., Mich., born Mt. Hope, Orange Co., N. Y., 18 July, 1819, son of Holly and Elizabeth (Moore) Seeley." Incidentally Ypsilanti is the city where I was born.

When I was home this summer, I failed to get the information from the Warren Seelye family as the member who had the records was away, but I expect to receive a copy of them before long.

I have sent to the County Clerk of Albany County , for copies of their records of deeds from and to James Seely of Stillwater and they may produce some information that will be helpful.

While at home, a distant cousin loaned me some papers of my great-grandfather, Samuel H. Ball, son-in-law, of Joseph, Jr. and Polly (Newland) Seely and husband of Olive, and among them, was one which showed that Elah Seely, brother of Olive and eldest child of Joseph, Jr., and Polly, died before Jan. 1836, leaving a widow, and orphan children. One of the children was a son named Harvey, who at one time lived in Dexter, Washtenaw Co., Mich.

I fear this is a rather disconnected letter, but out of it, you may get something that will give you a hint. I find there was a Seely family in New Brunswick, Canada, do you have any notes as to where they fit in?

With kindest regards and best wishes, and agin thanking you for your assistance and suggestions, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

N. L. Saunders.

Mrs. Harvey T. White
Apt. 46, 310 Haven Ave.
New York, N. Y.

My dear Mrs. White,
It has been several months since I received your letter of Sept. 18, and I wish to apologize for my failure to reply sooner. Your letter contained much information that may prove very valuable and I thank you for sending it to me. I am in the Navy, and shortly after your letter came, Mrs. Saunders' father died necessitating a trip in Michigan and upon my return I was ordered to duty in Philadelphia. My work here is very different from what I had in Washington and I do not have as much time to give to family research. In Washington I spent many evenings at the Library of Congress, but the largest library here, is that of the Historical Society of Pa., is not open evenings, which has made it more difficult for me to search for information. Consequently, I have not done nearly so much as I would have liked, and so far have failed to find but very little more regarding James Seely, of Stillwater.

I am enclosing a copy of the Seely burial records from the Durkee Mss. as you requested. This manuscript I believe, is in Albany, and the data were sent to me by Miss Jessie F.Wheeler, of Mechanicville, N. Y. I am also sending photographs of the family records in the Bible of Joseph Seely, Jr., which were in the possession of my Aunt, Miss Jule Ball, of Hamburg, Mich., when the photos were taken in 1936.

I was not able to make any hunt for Newburgh records before I left Washington, but I have examined all I could find here. In the History or Orange Co., N. Y., etc, by Ruttenber and Clark, published 1881, there was considerable information on which seems to agree, in general, with that given in your letter. If you do not have these date, I will be glad to send them to you.

I endeavored to get in touch with Mr. Ashley in Washington as you suggested, but found he had retired from active duty at the Library of Congress. After obtaining his address I wrote to him, but he was not able to help on my problem. He referred me to Mr. Storrs H. Seeley who also was unable to help me and has informed me he sent my letter on to you.

I have also learned that Mr. Willard Morse's "Four Generations" after Capt. Robert Seeley " in the State Library at Hartford, Conn. has nothing concerning a James Seely born about 1735, who I had figured, might be either of the fourth generation himself or might be named as a child of a fourth generation member. Another disappointment.

From what study I have been able to make of the information in your letter it does indeed look as if the James in whom I am interested might have been of the Orange Co., branch, and especiall so after what I will tell you later in this letter. It also occurs to me that there is a possibility he might originally have been from Vermont, as Jacobus names a John (4) of Newton and New Milford (Benjamin 3; Nathaniel 2; Robert 1), who had sons John (5) who "prob. rem. Pownal, Vt.". and Ephraim (5) who resided Woodbury, 174 Pownal, Vt., 1768." The probable date of birth (1716) of Ephraim (5) seems to exclude him from consideration as the possible father of James, b. 1735, but his brother John (5), b. perhaps 1708, could easily have been the father of James. I am mentioning this because you spoke of the Seeleys of Vermont, because of the Newland connections of James and Joseph, Jr., and because I am not certain that the Newlands did not go to Saratoga Co., by way of Vermont. It is known that the Rev. Lemuel Powers, husband of Abigail Newland, (sister of Joseph Newland of Saratoga and Cayuga Co.,'s) removed to Stillwater from Croydon or Croyden, N. H. If you have records of these Vermont Seeleys you can no doubt easily settle this possibility.

In his will, made 1817, James Seely mentions his "dau. widow Deborah Strang," and I have found a little concerning her probable husband. The Strang Genealogy, by Frost, 1915, p. 36, names a Gabriel Strang, son of Daniel and Phebe (Purdy) Strang, as b. 14 June, 1735, d. 11 June, 1812, m. (1) Hannah, b. 7 Aug. 1760, dau. of Johannes Clements of the Manor of Cortland, N. Y., afterwards of Beekman, Dutchess Co., N. Y. This Gabriel m. (2) Deborah ----, b. 21 Dec. 1765, d. 27 June, 1807, and was in the Provincial Service in the war of 1757 as a Lieutenant.

The Durkee Mss. of cemetery records gives the following Strang data from the Robins cemetery, Stillwater, "Strang, Gabriel, 11 June, 1812, 57 yrs., ; Strang, Deborah, wife. Gabriel, 27 June, 1837, 72d." The dates of the death of Gabriel in these two sources agree but the ages do not, and the day and month of death of Deborah agree, but there is a difference of 30 years in the years given. Gabriel would have been 77 instead of 57 if he had been born 1735. Subtracting 72 from 1837 gives 1765 the year of birth of Deborah------as given in the genealogy, and I believe we now have the following record of a daughter of James Seely:

Deborah, b. 21 Dec. 1765, d. 27 June, 1837, md. Gabriel Strang, ------.

Now let's take up the question of Gabriel. His first wife Hannah was born (according to the genealogy) 7 Aug. 1760. If the Gabriel Strang who md. Hannah and Deborah was born 1735, (genealogy) he could hardly hve md. Hannah before she was 15, which would be in 1775, and Gabriel in 1775 would have been 40. The will of Johannes Clements of Beekman, N. Y., dated 5 May, 1780, and proved 3 Dec. 1781, (genealogy) mentions two grand children, William and Gabriel Strang, by his deceased daughter Hannah, wife of Gabriel Strang. By this it is evident that Hannah, wife of Gabriel Strang, died before 5 May, 1780, and being the mother of two children, probably was md. at least 3 to 4 years before 1780 or about 1776-7. By her death in (say 1780) leaving two young children, it seems reasonable to think Gabriel Strang began to look for a second wife, and he probably md. Deborah Seely not later than 1781 when she would have been about 16, being born 1765, and he would have been 46. The fine children of these marriages as given in the genealogy are: By first wife (will of Johannes Clements); William and Gabriel; by "the family and Bolton" John, b. 1777, Daniel, b. 1780, Nathan, b. 1782, Hannah b. 1784, d. 1823, Gabriel, b. 1786, d. 1813, Clement, b. 1788, David, b. 1791, d. 1832, Amy, b. 1796, d. 1830, md. a Dillingham, Joseph, b. 1798, d. 1829, William, b. 1801. I do not know, but perhaps the Bolton referred to is the author of a history of Dutchess Co., as a Bolton was the author of one of Westchester Co.

I am very much inclined to believe there probably was a father Gabriel, b. 1735, with a son Gabriel, b. 1755,-6, (Durkee Mss. Gives age of a Gabriel as 57 in 1812,) who md. Hannah Clements and Deborah Seely. The genealogy stated that the author of a family document referred to in the genealogy claimed that Gabirel, the Lieutenant in the war of 1757, died soon after his return from the war, which seems to lend some color to what I have just said about a father and son. Again, the genealogy states that on 16 July, 1798, Rev. Silas Constant, of Yorktown, N. Y., preached the funeral services of a Gabriel Strang. It would seem pretty certain that Gabriel Strang, perhaps two, died before the one who was buried in Stillwater in 1812. Considering the estimated ages of Gabriel when md. as I have given them, it seems much more reasonable to think of the husband of Hannah and Deborah as a young man somewhere near the ages of his wives than as a man old enough when marrying to have been their father. And I think the Strang Genealogy is probably in error in some respects concerning this one family.

All this may appear somewhat irrelevant to my Seely problem, but the home of Johannes Clements in 1780 was in Dutchess Co.,

N. Y.
/mentioned by you as one of the counties by way of which the Seeleys from Connecticut branched out into other parts of New York. I have been unable to locate the Manor of Cortland referred to as Johannes former home. And, the will of James Seely of Stillwater mentions a granddaughter Anna Clements. As Anna is often a contraction of Hannah, there seems to me to be considerable reason to think it probable a daughter of James Seely married a son of Johannes Clements, of Dutchess Co., and named a daughter for her sister-in-law Hannah (Clements) Strang. And again, the will of James Seely mentions "youngest daughter Amya Sayles". On 13 June, 1821, Amy Sayles was appointed with one John Mires to administer the estate of a James Seely, deceased, probably her brother and both Amy and James children of James Seely, which apparently indicates that "Amya" in James' will was a corruption of Amy. The fact that Gabriel and Deborah (Seely) Strang named a daughter, b. 1796, Amy, and a son, b. 1798, Joseph, (the name of James Seely's "eldest son" according to his will) seems to show a further "hook-up of these families.

From the foregoing it looks to me very much as if James Seely of Stillwater once lived near enough to Johannes Clements to have a daughter marry a son-in-law, and another daughter marry a son, of Johannes Clements. With the records you have all this may indicate a lead that will divulge something worthwhile. I will be glad to know if your opinion of this theory or hypothesis of mine worthwile to try to get copies of land records and of the will of Johannes Clements.

Some time ago I found in Isabel MacBeath Calder's "The New Haven Colony," printed by Yale University Press, 1934, some very interesting information concerning Capt. Robert Seeley and his marriage to Mary Mason in 1626. Do you consider this to be authentic? In case you have not these data will gladly send them to you.

I expect to go home to Michigan on a fortnight's vacation about the 18th, of the month, so you need be in no hurry to reply to this letter, if you should be willing to do so after my long silence. I have found the address of a Warren O. Seelye living near my home and I hope to visit him as a possible source of information; one of Joseph Seely Jr., children was named Warren and the fact that this gentleman also bears the Christian name of Warren causes me to want to see him.

Trusting that I have not taken up too much of your time, and again thanking you for your letter, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

N. L. Saunders.

P. S. Please excuse errors in this letter. Regret I've not time to copy the burial records.

Dear Madam:

Through a correspondent I have learned that for many years you have been compiling a genealogy of the "Seeley-Seely-Seelye Family", and this prompts me to take the liberty of addressing you relative to some information in the Seely line of my ancestry that I am seeking.

I am a great-great-grandson of Joseph Seely, Jr., who was born in 1785, probably in Stillwater, Saratoga Co., N. Y., and is believed to have died before 1830 in what was then Sempronius, Cayuga Co., N. Y. He married before 21 Sept. 1803, (the date of birth of his eldest child Elah or Ely) Mary, (called Polly) Newland, daughter of Joseph and Sibyl (Austin) Newland, born 1781, probably in Stillwater, N. Y. It may be that the name of his son Elah or Ely is a corrupted form of Eli, as I have found two Seeleys of that name recorded in Westchester Co., N. Y., in Revolutionary times.

Joseph Seely, Jr., I believe was a son of the Joseph Seeley listed in the 1790 Census as in Stillwater with one male over 16, two under 16, four females in his family, and who, in turn, I believe was the "eldest son", mentioned in the will of James Seely of Stillwater who died February 10, 1819, and whose will war recorded in the Saratoga Co., Surrogate's office on 19 Feb. 1819. As yet, I have no proof that the foregoing is correct and I have no information about the family of Joseph, eldest son of James.

James Seely was in his 85th year, when he died in 1819, (grave stone), so was born about 1734-5. His wife was Elizabeth------ who died 25 Jan. 1828, in her 93rd yr. (gravestone). She was then born about 1735-6, and it seems logical to believe she was the only wife of James. In the records I have searched, I have found no James born 1734, or 5, or who md. an Elizabeth. It seems probable that he was of the New Milford or Stamford, Conn., or Westchester Co., N. Y. Seeley families, members ofwhich are known to have settled , or moved to Saratoga Co. I have found that a James Seeley was one of the early settlers in Westchester Co., N. Y., but have no more concerning him.

Should you have information which would help me to prove the descent of Joseph Seely, Jr., as I have outlined or otherwise, and to identify James Seely of Stillwater, I will be very grateful if you will so inform me, and also as to the amount of any charge there may be for furnishing it, should you be willing to do so. Anything you might be able to send me will be used soley for the purpose of completing my family records. At present I have no thought of publishing them. If you would like to have such records as I have of the family of Joseph, Jr., and Mary (Newland) Seely, I will be pleased to send them to you.

Thanking you in advance for anything you may be able to tell me, I am,

Very truly yours,

N. L. Saunders.

Mrs. H. T. White
310 Haven Avenue
New York City, N. Y.

My dear Mrs. White,

Please let me thank you for your very informative letter of the 13th. Although you were not able to place those in whom I am particularly interested, it was encouraging to learn that you think they may be of the Stamford line and perhaps descended from the Cornelius Seely, of Bedford. This possibility is one to which I have been inclined for some time without being able to find much that was in any way helpful.

From information in your letter, and notes, that I have collected I have worked out a line of descent that is "possible" but requires a lot of proving. I am submitting it for your consideration on a separate sheet. It may or may not be worth while.

I lean toward the possibility of this line of descent for Joseph Seely, Jr., for a number of reasons, none of which I can support with proofs, as yet, but it certainly seems plausible and perhaps can be proved in time.

A Thaddeus Seely, b. 1758, known son of Eli, of Bedford, "had been to Stillwater" during his Revolutionary service, according to an affidavit of his brother Eli, of Bainbridge, Chenango

Co., N. Y., relative to pension. This Thaddeus died 24 Mar. 1830, in Havanna Town, Tioga Co., N. Y., and md. Mary Scofield, dau. of Josiah, on 12 Feb. 1784, in the town of Pound Ridge, Westchester Co., N. Y. at the home of the bride's father. In 1848 Sarah (Scofield) Seeley, aet. 87, was in Locke, Cayuga Co., N. Y. A Thaddeus Seeley was in Sempronius town Cayuga Co., aet. 16-26, in 1820 Census. A Thaddeus Seeley, aet. 18, when enlisted at Pompey, Onondaga Co., in 1814 for service in the War of 1812, (hence born 1796), was born in Stillwater, N. Y. After discharge from service he resided in Cayuga Co., Tomkins Co., and 40 years in Onondaga Co. He d. 2 Dec. 1879. This would seem to indicate the movement to Saratoga Co., of Seeleys from Westchester Co., and later to the adjoining counties of Cayuga and Onondaga. The widow Sarah probably was with relatives in Locke, and the younger Thaddeus may have been her son.

Hezekiah Seeley, son of Nathaniel of Fairfield, d. Ballston Saratoga Co., in 1798, (will proved 7 Jan. 1798) md. (1) Joanna (Joanna (Johanna or Hannah,) Beardsley, on 27 Sept. 1750, at Stratfield, and (2) Abigail West or (Nash) who survived him. Records of the Church of Christ in Salem, Westchester Co., show the marriage of a Hezekiah Selah and Abigail Nash on 1 Nov. 1779. As Stamford original was Stratfield, (as I understand) this indicates the movement of a Seeley from Fairfield to Saratoga Co., via Westchester Co. A descendant of Hezekiah with whom I have corresponded states Hezekiah went to Westchester Co., from Conn., about 1750.

The grandson of James Seeley of Stillwater, Cornelius Newland, I feel was probably named after some Cornelius Seeley as in my search for Newland records, (almost as difficult to find as records of my Seely line) I have found none named Cornelius.

The daughter of James Seely of Stillwater, "widow Deborah Strang," I fell certain is the one who married Gabriel Strang, as his second wife. The Strang Genealogy gives her name only as Deborah -----, b. 21 Dec. 1765, d. 27 June, 1807, and he b. 14 June, 1735, d. 11 June, 1812. He md. first, Hannah, b. 7 Aug. 1760, dau. of Johannes Clements of Cortland Manor, and afterward of Beekman, Dutchess Co. Durkee's Mss. of cemetery records show a Deborah Strang in a Stillwater cemetery as having d. 27 June, 1837, in 72nd yr.(which makes her born 1765) and a Gabriel Strang in the same semetery as having d. 11 June 1812. This seems pretty acceptable evidence that they are the same people.

These last four paragraphs surely indicate that Westchester Seeleys got to Saratoga Co., and the fact that a daughter of James of Stillwater evidently married a Strang of the general vicinity of Westchester Co., and he had a grand-son Cornelius seems to strongly hint that he was also from that locality before going to Saratoga Co.

I have collected many Seeley data, some fairly complete, others not, but out of them all I have somehow felt the Westchester line was the one I wanted. If you care to give me an outline of the particular lines that you are searching, I will be glad to go through my notes, to see if I have anything on them, and if so, will gladly send it along to you.

Somehow, I feel that I have not told you much about James Seely of Stillwater, but as a matter of fact, I do not know much about him, and still less about his "eldest son Joseph", whom I believe is the Joseph listed in the 1790 Census as in Stillwater. I have been informed that the Probate, or rather Surrogate's Court of Saratoga County have no records of a Joseph Seely. At one time I had thought that my Joseph might have been a son of Capt. Nehemiah of Kingsbury, Washington Co., but after finding the date of his birth, realized that he could not have been. In the family of Hezekiah the name of Joseph was used also, but that family "is out" so far as my line is concerned, at least, apparently. I have found but little on the Orange Co. family, but your thought prompts me to see if I can find any clue there. Shall also see if I can find anything on the Joseph, b. 29 Apr. 1757, son of Nathaniel of Stamford and Westchester. Do you have any idea as to the identity of the James Seely named as one of the purchasers of land in or near Bedford from the Indians in Bolton's history?

The Miss Ball of Hamburg, Mich., who wrote to you some years ago is a sister of my mother. She has been working for years on her family records. She has never been able to get very far with Seely and Newland families and being located in Washington, I took up the task of searching for the records. Out of my efforts for this type of research , grew an interest that has fascinated me and I am now working on my father's and mother's records and the records of my wife. My aunt is handicapped in her efforts by living a considerable distance from a library and also by a partly crippled hip, so that she cannot get about very easily. She is quite elderly and it appears more than likely that it will be my task to complete what she has started, as well as what I have done. She has helped me considerable, and I aslo help her whenever I get hold of anything, but essentially we are working independently, and as I said in my previous letter without any thought of publishing the records we obtain.

Your suggestion regarding a search in the town records of Bedford is good, and while, I cannot spend much in this work, if you will let me know what the expense of the trip would be, roughly, of course, it might be that I could afford to finance the trip.

Again thanking you for your letter and hoping that what I have told you may give you a clue as to the solution of my problem, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,
N. L. Saunders.

Dear Mrs. White,

I have some data that I just cannot keep until I get home. My dear Mrs. Ridall,

Thanks for your information of the Seeley family. It is the Stetson family in which I am especially interested, and you gave me several items which were new to me. I think I have nearly all the names of living descendants of Frank and Janet Seeley, but lack dates. I did not know before that Eliza Moss had any children. I believe that Sarah's first husband's name was Stroud.

Janet Stetson Seeley, (I thank you for her middle name) was born Wednesday 7 Oct. 1829. She and Frank were married 4 July, 1849. I did not know before of those children who died in infancy. I have not the dates of the birth of any of their children, but hope to get them yet. I find that I have Warren's birth date, 30 June, 1866, he and Anna Howard were md. 17 Sept. 1881, Warren d. 29 Feb. 1924.

The following reply to a list of questions sent to Mrs. Siggelko to be answered by Mrs. Smith was enclosed in an envelope with a letter from Mrs. Siggelko.

'The name is Eber, not Eben G. Seely. His wife was Jannett, but she was called Jane. I don't know about property in Ontario Co. N. Y. If any one would know it would be one of his grandsons, Charles R. or Frank E. Seely. Frank is a mute, caused by a sickness when a small child. He attended the Rochester School for Mutes, and met his wife there, who is also mute. My sister-in-law, Margaret L. McKelvey Hunt, is not related to Etta McK. Fisk. Her family came from Ohio and my sister-in-law's family are Rochesterians. Betsy Seely, daughter of Eber, I found married and moved to Michigan. I don't know her husband's name or any other information about her. I have no information as to whether Silas and Eber moved from Westford, Vt. in one hop or not. My husband, James Arthur Smith, was born in Chambersburg, Pa. I made a mistake in the name of Mrs. Haggstrom. Her husband's name is Paul. Howard is her brother-in-law, who lives with them and the phone is in his name. The Chas. R. Seely who married Juliette A. Allen, is not the one who lives in Angelica. I was in Belfast, N. Y., on Thurs. and found that he is the grandson of a Hiram Seely, and son of a James Seely who lived in Belfast, but they were not related to our Seely Branch. The Charles R. Seely in our branch married Florence Hooker. I visited the Rawson cemetery and did not find any information about the parents of Silas and Eber. I found the graves of Silas Stone Seely and his first wife, Nattella Rawson, died, Nattella did, on the 16 Nov. 1855, age 46, her parents Nehetabel Tracey Rawson, and Solomon Rawson. Nehetabel d. 27 Aug. 1872, age 84. Solomon Solomon died 11 Sept. 1849. Lucien Pratt, husband of Nellie McKinley Pratt, was bur. there, b. Aug. 1855, d. 1917, have you ever written Helen Seely Weaver of Cuba, N. Y.? I learned from another cousin, that she has looked up quite a bit of our Seely branch. I went to Cuba, Thursday, but she was away, so could not get any information from her.

Very sincerely yours,

Gladys Hunt Smith.

Dear Mrs. White:

Thank you very much for your letter concerning the "Seeley Family." I shall be very grateful and delighted if you can gather any news of my great-grand parents by using my data with what you already have.

My great-grandfather on my mother's side:
Isaac Reynolds, b. 6 June, 1772, (3?)
d. 5 June, 1850.

My great-grandmother:
Prudence Ann Seeley, b. 8 Mar. 1782.
d. 6 June, 1833.

Lived and buried on Chestnut Ridge- Bedford, N. Y. Isaac's father was a John Reynolds (?).

Their children:

1. Eli, b. 26 Mar. 1798, md. Hannah Lyon, 2nd md. Mary Sherwood.

2. Mary, b. 10 May, 1800, md. Abram Lyon.
   4 children:
   (1) Tyler
   (2) Mary
   (3) Samuel
   (4) Hester, md. Seeley Lounsbury.

3. Isaac ("Bud"), b. Apr. 1802, md. Eliza Ferris
   5 children.

4. Lucy (Elizabeth?), md. Samuel Sands.
   2 children.

5. Sarah Ann, b. 3 Mar. 1805, md. Elias Zarr.
   2 children.

6. Jane Maria, b. 21 Mar. 1808, md. Thaddeus Davids. (Ink Maker).
   4 sons:
   (1) David
   (2) George
   (3) Walter
   (4) Edwin

7. John, b. 18 Sept. 1810, md. Eliza Jane Zarr.
   5 children

8. Stephen M., b. 10 May, 1813, md. 1st Phoebe Ferris. 7 children, md. 2nd Sally Ann Ackerly, 9 children.

9. Joseph, b. 3 Apr. 1815, md. Amanda Miller, 7 children.

10. Ann R., b. 11 Oct. 1818, md. Jared Smiffin. Several children, lived in North Castle, N. Y.

11. Hannah A., b. 7 Aug. 1820, md. William Green.

12. William Shute Reynolds, b. 17 July, 1823, md. Adeline (Fitch Green) Storms (widow), d. 20 June, 1900.

This last child of Isaac and Prudence was my grandfather, only for the past two years, I have learned how many cousins I've missed knowing. Most of them are gone, but I've learned many interesting things.

I think the "Shute" line might throw light upon the origin of Prudence Ann Seely- but have learned nothing so far.

There seems to be a lost record that is very much needed. If I could only remember the tales grandmother told, I could learn more easily now.

I am a member of the Reynolds Family Association through my father's side way back of the Revolution-- and began trying to link the two families prior to my mother's marriage in 1876-7.

Mr. Seeley kindly came over from Scarsdale to show me his record but we could learn nothing. The present Eugene Meyers place at the head of Byram Lake in North Castle- was the original home of the Reynolds tribe-- I've been to Chestnut Ridge- but little is left to follow.

I'm hoping my little will help you learn more.

Thanking you again, I am

Very sincerely yours
Elsie M. Lyon

Seely Street: Named for Isaac Seely and located in the vicinity of the property he owned in Welland. He came here about middle of the last century and operated a grain business on the bank of the Welland River at the aqueduct. He received barges of grain shipped from the upper reaches of the river. He went into partnership later with his son-in-law, Moses Betts, forming the firm of Seely and Betts. They operated two saw mills and a planing mill, also on the river banks near the aqueduct.

Dear Mrs. White,
I have a little data as you will see by the records I just copied. Mr. Diehl was very nice to me and will let me know soon as to what he finds out. I have been so very behind in everything this past summer that I do not know when I well ever be caught up. I hope, to however, I have had quite a lot of data come in from other branches of my direct family, so must get it sorted out soon.
Here is another note on Seeley that a party told me recently. She could not remember all, but has a clipping some where.
Mrs. Lillian (Seeley) Wilson-Hopper, d. Aug. 1936, at Belfast, N. Y.-- 1st husband was George Wilson
2nd husband was George Hopper.
Her father was Hiram Seeley, and she was one of 5 girls, all dead but one.

I thank you so much for what you are trying to do for me as to John Seeley, and I also feel sure you are on the right track. I am sure all will work out someday.

I am trying to fill in some of the other records you asked me to do. Here are some more I copied from the August 1936, Early Settler of New York, published at Akron, N. Y.

Joseph Seely, Jr., b. 1785, perhaps at Stillwater, Saratoga Co., N. Y. md. Mary, (called Polly) Newland, b. 1781, they had:

1. Elah, b. 21 Sept. 1803.
2. Mary, 1806.
3. Olive, 1 Dec. 1808, d. 14 July, 1899, Webster, Mich, md. Sam'l H. Ball, 23 June, 1829.
4. John, 1811, moved to Aurora, Kane Co., Ill.
5. Warren, 1812, had a son Charles who md. a sister of brother Reuben's wife.
6. Emeline, 1814, md. George Burnett.
7. Esther, 1816.
8. Betsey Ann, 1818, md. Austin Sanderson.
9. Sibbyl, b. 1820.
10. Reuben, b. 14 Nov. 1823, md. Henrietta.

All children except perhaps Elah, believed to have been born in what was then Sempronious, town of Cayuga Co., N. Y.

Was Joseph the son of Joseph Seeley mentioned in the 1790 census of Stillwater, N. Y., with 1 male over 16, 2 under 16, and 4 females? Did the father serve Rev.?

Was Mary Newland the dau. of Joseph Newland, b.4 July, 1755, prob. near Norton, Mass., d. 2 Jan. 1848, at Fleming, Cayuga Co., N. Y., and his wife Sibyl Austin?

The children of Joseph and Sibyl Newland were:
1. Olive- Joseph, Jr., - James and Lemuel A.
)md. Capt. Luther Fuller, of Kellogsville, Cayuga Co., N. Y.

Family tradition indicates that the children of Joseph and Mary Seeley were cousins, through the mother, Abigail Powers Fillmore (dau. of Rev. Lemuel, Jr. and Abigail Newland Powers, and widow of Willard Fillmore.

Wanted ancestry of Joseph and Mary Seeley and any information pertaining to their children. N.L.S., Washington, D. C.

Mrs. White, if you happen to have data wanted, let me know, and I will see Mrs. Foley who publishes this magazine, and pass it on to her. I do not take the book now, but know her and I see the book in the Library.

Dear Mrs. White:

I've received a wee bit more for you to add to the record of Theana E. (Seely) Bartlett's daughter. According to her, T. S., Myrtle Bartlett was b. in 1877, and d. 9 Nov. 1906. On Mar. 19, 1906, she became the 2nd wife, of Ira Hagleshaw. He was b. 25 Nov. 1875, in Newton Twp. Calhoun Co., Mich., and d. 19 Mar. 1939. It is strange that she lived less that 8 mo., after her marriage. Ira's surname has been changed because he was the son of Joseph H. and Sophia (Fick) Haglechact. These H. data came from a Fam. B. in possession of a relative.

Hastily,
E. C. R. K.

R. E. Seely burial to be to morrow.

Possibly the Helens are the one and same person. Hiram's mother may have had a room in her son's house and have taken breakfast and supper there, going out for her dinners. If 97 West St. was a Boarding House, and she ate her dinners there, her name may have been given to the C. Dinman as a boarder there. This theory would account for the duplication of names.

On Nov. 22, 1931, I sent you Hiram's marriage record, taken from the Daily Standard of Syracuse. In it he was called Edward. Evidently he preferred his middle name as so many of the other Seelye men have. His bride was Jaquiline Killmer. Both lived in Syracuse at the time of their marriage. They are buried in beautiful Oakwood Cemetery near my parents. The Cem. Rec. sent from the Office, names his wife as the daughter of Luke and Achsah (_____) Killmer, born 30 Mar. 1841, in Syracuse, N. Y., d. 6 Nov. 1925. Hiram E. died 6 Sept. 1883. His parentage was not sent. He must have had a daughter Maude B., for it seems to me there is a headstone with her name and date of birth, (1876) on it. Evidently she is still alive somewhere. There is an infant buried on the Seelye lot. The Oakwood Cem. Office gives this child as Lena J. Sedly, b. 4 Nov. 1887, in Syracuse, N. Y., d. 15 Jan._____, the dau. of E. and N. Seelye. Some one wrote the child's name wrong as you can see. Since the last name is Seelye, I presume, that E. Seelye, father of the baby girl Lena, was undoubtedly Hiram's son.

It seems strange that the year of this child's death was not stated. Perhaps I can secure it from the Syracuse Bureau of Vital Statistics. It is interesting to compare Census Records with those in the City Directories. I will fill out this sheet by telling you that Mrs. Lodder reports the State Census Records of the "off years" are kept at the county seats and states that she knows of no copies, so I may have been mistaken about it being possible to consult those of all the counties in N. Y. State, in Albany.

Instead of two names, I've sent four, as the persons named are, I believe, a father, that father's widow, and the son and daughter of this couple. More names will be sent later.

I am inclined to believe the O. S. who lived at 65 Seymour St. in 1851-52, is the same man as he who lived on Fabins St. in 1855-56, 1857, 1857-58, and in 1862. His work as a carpenter may have fallen off, and given him an opportunity to act as an Ass't. Health Inspector in '57-'58. Now the Obadiah who married Betsey Hendrick, died early in 1864. Notice that the 1864-'65, C. D. does not list O. S. the Carpenter. I wonder whether he who died in Jan. '64, was the Carpenter- Health Inspr. man. What do you think? Obadiah the "Machinist", called Jr. in 1857-'58, is undoubtedly he who afterwards is found living for some 10 years at 88 Seymour St. He may have been a son of Obadiah and Betsey, of whom you had no record or he may have been one of the sons you knew by another name. Perhaps he was Obadiah Geo. and in 1851-52, went by the name of George, changing to Obadiah Jr., in 57-58 when he was old enough to appreciate being called Jr. On the other hand, a man bearing the same given name as an older relative was often called, "Jr.", in those early days, even tho' the older relative was not his father. I found that out when delving into early R. I. records. Possibly O. S. Jr., was a nephew named after the older man. Did the O. S. who md. Betsey Hendrick have a brother George? I will close now, for I have work to do. I have more Seeley etc, names to send you from early Syracuse Directories Do you find them helpful? Mrs. Lodder reports Seeley names in the Sterling Gen. Have you ever consulted it? I hope that Spring is well on its way, for I will be delighted when it arrives.

You recall that his siter gave the father's name as Stephen A. I thought perhaps his middle name was Amasa. If Amasa's middle initial was S., perhaps he was Amasa Stephen. Doesn't that sound logical to you?

There was a John D. Seeley of Onon. Co. on whose estate letters were issued. I'll ask Mrs. Lodder to look that up. Oakwood Cem. Office gave Chas. L. Seeley, whom I suppose was a son of John D., as born June 30, 1840 in Pa. The Root Post G.A.R. to which Chas. L. belonged, sent me his (I think place of birth as *Hardford, Pa.). He died May 6, 1893. His parentage was evidently unknown probably to the Cem. Office force as it was not sent, although I had requested it.

My dear Mrs. White,

Thank you for your most interesting letter of June 9th. The Obediah Seeley record will be useful many times I am sure. I know Mrs. Cora Miller slightly. She is not a member of Tianderah Chapter. She is a member of the Butternut Valley Garden Club, of which I also am a member and that is where I have met her. Her husband has recently died and she has not been at the meetings. No doubt later in the summer I'll meet her again then I can ask her about the line. I hope I may procure the data you desire.

Abijah Gilbert, who founded Gilbertsville, came from Nuneaton England, in 1786 and spent the winter in New Jersey. There he met Lewis and Richard Morris and purchased "sight unseen" a tract of one thousand acres from the Morris patent. Abijah Gilbert settled here in 1787. Thus "Gilbertstown Cemetary", Conn. has no connection with the Abijah Gilbert family, but there is another Gilbert family here and sone day I'll try to find out something about that line.

John Thorp's grave stone is marked "Died September 18, 1790, aged 54 years". Miss Mary Thorp assures me that he was not a soldier in the Revolution. Miss Thorp is one of the charter members of Tianderah Chapter. She very much wanted to come in through the Thorp name but was not able to do so. Her ancestor is Lieut. Zadock Noble. The only John Thorp recorded in these files is your ancestor.

I am very anxious to find out something about the Newman family. I know that or I should say, I think that I am descened from Thomas Newman, born in England about 1580 and died at Stamford, Conn., 1660. My Great Grandfather was Nathaniel, born 1724 at Stamford, Conn. I think perhaps Nathaniel 3rd was the son of Samuel 1st born in Stamford, son of Nathaniel 1st born in Stamford, son of Thomas 2nd born in Stamford, son of William born in England, son of Thomas 1st born in England. I have not been able to find Revolutionary records. But I am hoping for time this summer to make every thing sure.

I certainly enjoy this work. My predecessors have done such splendid work. I hope I may keep it up to the standard.

Very sincerely yours,

Mary Ann Deitz

Washington, Conn.
March, 15

Dear Mrs. White,

Some time ago you asked about L.G. Seeley, who lived in Washington many years ago. I have just come across some information about him. My uncle looked up the Seeley family history and left several note books on this. I find the answer to your question.

There was a Lucius G. Seeley, b. 1812, Washington, Conn., d. 1898, married Wealthy W. Barden, 1820-1879. Their children were: Adeline, b. 3 June 1850 and a son (no name), b. 12 June 1856.

My Uncle wrote: This family was born in Washington, Conn. but moved later to Wallingford, Conn. They are buried there.

As one enters the old Wallingford Cemetery by entrance nearest to depot, the Seeley plot is seen at right, about 300 feet inside the cemetery.

Here are the monuments to Lucius G. Seeley and his wife, Wealthy Barden:

Their are also other Seeley's buried here.

Mary M. Seeley, wife of George Merrill
1847 1846-1914

Walter H. Seeley, d. 17 Apr. 1874
Conn. Volunteer, Co. 1, 23 Regiment.

Sarah A. Seeley, wife of Sylvanus Wordin
1850-1876

Hiram M. Seeley, married Rachael Rowe
1856-1927 1851-1926

(This Hiram Seeley may be son of Lucius G. Seeley? Not certain.)

This is all the information I have, but I believe this answers your query as to L. G. Seeley.

My husband never heard of Lucius Seeley. I do not know if he is related at all.

Sincerely yours,
Margaret A. Seeley

"Where as Joseph Seeley of Bridgeport, parent of Lyman H. Seely, David B. Seeley and Charles G. Seeley, minors, have petitioned, showing this Court that said minors as owner of one-half of dwelling house where Gamaliel French now resides, etc.

"With privilege to pass and repass to and from said house and barn with small piece of land now occupied for a garden lying between said house and barn containing about 20 rods, being whole garden bounded north by barnyard, east by highway, south by said house, and west by land of Ebenezer French near Fresh Pond School House in said Bridgeport, which descended to them from their mother and subject to life estate of their father, Joseph Seeley."

Dr. Seely
Woodhull, N.Y.

Dear Doctor:

I am writing a history of the Seely family and I would be pleased to know about your branch of the family. My people came from Westchester County. I would be pleased to know what you know of your fore fathers, as to who they married, names of their children, dates and anything of interest you may know of them from as far back as you can go down to the present time. I have been about seven years collecting and writing this work and it is nearly ready for the printer.

Doctor, please don't lay this letter aside and forget all about it as I so often do with my correspondence. Your name was given me by a Dr. Frank E. Seely of Jersey Shore, Pa. Thanking you in advance for any and all favors, I am

Truly yours,

C.W.Seely

Written on same:

I believe this Dr. died before the work was completed. The heirs no doubt have the records. (Signed) Mary Seeley, born at Afton, Chenango Co., N.Y.

Mrs. Rigall:-

We have written as completely as we know the family histories of STEPHEN & ALBERT SEELEY, who were brothers. We are enclosing a letter from Mr. C.W. Seeley to John Seeley which was sent some years ago. He also was trying to compile a history so if you can get in touch with some of his heirs you no doubt can get a great deal more of the history of the older ancestors than we can furnish because a history of these two (above) families was sent to him at that time. Perhaps if you write to the Flaveous E. Seeley who is still living and whose address is BRIGDEN, ONTARIO CANADA, you can get more history of STEPHEN SEELEY FAMILY

Yours truly,

Your reply to V.B.F with the added information that you have been compiling Seeley records for many years has prompted this letter. Possibly I can contribute some data, but I wish more especially to learn if you have a Diamah Seeley in your records. For many years we have searched for her ancestry. She was the wife of John Blackman of Newtown, Conn. and her gravestone in the cemetery in Newtown gives April 10, 1785 as her date of death and her age as 34 years. She died a few weeks after the birth of her son, Simeon Seeley Blackman, who was my maternal great-grandfather. Her husband married twice after her death and any records of her family were lost with the passing of time. Her other children were, John, Diamah wife of Andrew Sherman, Ebenezer, Patron Murray, David S., Polly and Catharine.

We have never inclined to the belief that the Dinah, b. 23 Jan. 1748, dau. of Joseph and Hannah Seeley, was our Diamah. There is a discrepancy in dates as well as in spelling of the first name.

There was also a Othniel Seeley in Newtown, but I have never found any of his descendants.

John Blackman, the husband of Diamah Seeley, married one or both of his later wives in Litchfield County and as Seeley is a more or less common name then, we have wondered if by any chance Diamah came from that county.

I should be most grateful if you have any information on this point, and would be glad to give up dates of her descendants if you can place her at all in your genealogy.

Yours very truly,

Edna Clark Terrill

My dear Mrs. White:

Thank you very much for the Seeley information you sent me. I have been trying to get more information from Mrs. Kemble and finally secured a little.

Her grandfather she says was John, not Squire. Her father Charles A. Seeley was born Oct., 18, 1845 and died June 7, 1928. He married Oct. 21, 1869, Sarah Emma Perine. She was born in 1851 and died March 7, 1908.

In case you wish to use it her address is: Mrs. Harry W. Kemble, Setauket, Long Island, N.Y.

She says their family Bible was lost when the home was broken up. Can you imagine people being careless with records?

There are others in her family so if you care to write, you may be able to get further information.

Sincerely,

Sadie B. Edwards

My dear Mrs. White:

Your long and interesting letter has given me a great deal of pleasure as well as valuable information. I have re-read it several times in order to get the facts in mind and am now going to attempt to answer it.

Samuel[5] Hungerford (Thomas 4-1), son of Thomas and Margaret (Stewart) Hungerford, was born in East Haddam, Conn., 10 May 1725; and died in New Fairfield, Conn., in 1789 (I do not have the exact date, but presume that there is a tombstone there somewhere which I hope to find some day). He married, 23 June 1746, Mary Graves, dau. of Benjamin and Mary (Haynes) Graves. They had issue:

Eleanor, b. 17 May 1747---no further record.
Mary, b. 21 June 1749; mar. Alexander Stewart, Jr.
Eunice, b. 26 Apr. 1751; mar. Joseph Soule(my double ancestress)
Miriam, b. 13 Feb. 1753;--no further record
Uriel, b. 12 Feb. 1755; ancestors of the Hungerfords of Bridgeport, Conn.
Isaiah, b. 26 Dec. 1756; settled in Northern Vermont.
Allen, b. 12 Dec. 1758; d. 19 June 1776.
Ezra, b. 8 Feb. 1761.
Zurah, b. 13 June 1763; mar. Amos Northrop and moved to Northern Vermont.
Deborah, b. 18 Nov. 1764; mar. Nathan Waldo.
Margaret, b. in 1766; mar. Job Hurlbutt, and moved to Northern Vermont.
Ezliabth, b. 30 May 1769; mar.(1) Ichabod Tuttle, (2) Solomon Jones.
Samuel, b. 7 Dec. 1771; removed to Canada, ancestor of Samuel J. Hungerford, Pres. of the Canadian National Railways.

I have a Seeley Hungerford, son of John and Lucy (Geer) Hungerford, by in New York state about 1808, removed to Wisconsin and died out here in the 1890's; and another Seeley, son of Amasa and Elizabeth (Seeley) Hungerford, born in Pownal, Vt., 6 Apr. 1783, removed to Henderson, Jefferson Co., N.Y., and had William, Orrin, John, Ebenezer, Elizabeth, George W., Fayette, Charles, Hannah and Dorcas.

Now, my records state that Amasa Hungerford[5](John[4], Thomas[3-1] son of John and Lucy Hungerford, married at New Fairfield, Conn. 3 Dec. 1772, Elizabeth Seeley, born in New Milford, Conn., about 1754; died in Henderson, New York, in 1825. Amasa Hungerford was born in East Haddam, Conn., and bapt. 21 May 1749; he died in Pownal, Vt. about 1792. He was a Revolutionary Soldier.

Issue:

Lucy, b. in New Fairfield, 3 July 1773; mar. Samuel Jewett. Issue.

Hannah, b. in New Fairfield, 13 Apr. 1775; mar. Samuel Northrop. Issue.
Lydia, born,10 Sept. 1777; mar. Elam Jewett of Weybridge, Vt. Issue.
Salome, b. in Pownal, Vt., 11 Aug. 1779.
Amasa, b. in Pownal, 4 May 1781; mar. Lucy Morgan. Issue.
Seeley, b. in Pownal, 6 Apr. 1783; (see above)
John, b. in Pownal, 10 Feb. 1785; mar. Lucy Geer (see above)
Uriah, b. in Pownal, 3 Sept. 1786; mar. four times.
Philo, b. in Pownal, 10 July 1788.
Orrin, b. in Pownal about 1790; mar. Abigail Morgan.

The Hannah Hungerford who married Ebenezer Seeley was the daughter of Thomas and Margaret (Stewart) Hungerford, born 25 Oct. 1732, and sister of my ancestor Samuel Hungerford, whose record I have given above. Could you give me a list of the children of Ebenezer Seeley and his wife Hannah Hungerford? Also the parentage of the Elizabeth Seeley who married Amasa Hungerford (not Asa, as you gave it?).

My dear Mrs. White:

Thank you very much for your information. Since writing to you I have been able to place most of the Seeleys in the list that I sent you.

The Seneca Co. records give the following Seeleys as early settlers:

John Seeley	Ovid, N.Y.	1792
William Seeley	Romulus, N.Y.	(no date)
*Jonas Seeley	Romulus, N.Y.	1798 mar. a Miss Seeley
John Seeley	Romulus, N.Y.	(no date)
James Seeley	Romulus, N.Y.	(no date)
Nathaniel Seeley	Waterloo, N.Y.	1840, from New Jersey (?), wife Laura.

*Daughters of the above Jonas Seeley were living in Romulus, in 1875. Sophia Fenton and a Mrs. Conkling.

Regarding your inquiry about William Pease Seeley, b. 1788, d. 1820. I have no other information than that he is buried in Ovid. I believe that the names Susanna Kurger and Eber Kurger should be Harger as Edward Harger married Susanna Dickerson and they had children Eber and Nancy. Nancy married John B. Seeley a brother of William Pease Seeley.

I have the Pease line back to the emigrants and I find that Joel Pease had a brother William who married a Viola Cadwell. I do not find the name Arvilla, but Asa Pease and Asa Jr. are given in the 1790 census of N.Y. as living at Chatham, Columbia Co.

Dear Mrs. White;

Thank you so much for your prompt reply to my letter. I found it so difficult to prove the data I have, hence my S.O.S. Am sure I can fill out the papers now. Thank you too for the rest of the data, I think you will be interested in the records I have, tho they do not agree with yours entirely.

First I want to tell you I am trying to learn to type the correct way, it is faster and easier on the eyes, but find it slow work and it takes much practice, as I am teaching myself from the Touch Method instruction book and started since New Years; so if I live long enough I may be able to enjoy my typewriter, but right now I have my doubts.

I may be able to find the wife of David Seelye.

Where did you find Ambrose Seelye, b. 5 Aug. 1809, d. 11 Mar. 1868?

The Land Records you wish would not be in Skeneatles but in Auburn County Court House, I think. Will be glad to look for them if I go there.

There were several Ambrose Seelye's and you can see from my record it differs from yours, so I am giving reference.

Bartlett Cemetery, Town of Westmoreland. (D.A.R. Cem. records, Oneida Chapter). Seelye--Hannah L., wife of Ambrose and dau. of William and Sarah Law, d. 28 Mar. 1841, age 26 yrs. 11 mo. 16 days.

Ambrose Seelye, b. 25 Dec. 1820 (Bible Record)

Elizabeth R. Dowsland, wife of Ambrose G. Seelye, b. 1827, d. 21 Apr. 1845, age 18 yrs. 2 mo. (Inscription on monument in cem. at Westmoreland).

Ambrose G. Seelye and Sarah Root married 27 Sept. 1849, (Bible Record).

Ambrose G. Seelye, 1820-1894 and wife Sarah B. Seelye, 1833-1907. (Inscription on monument in cem. at Westmoreland).
